Charges Assessment Program Cost Ten Times Too Much

Monumental Confusion Is Claimed

"MONUMENTAL Confusion" in Monroe County's Republican administration has put the county "in the hole" financially and has made the new tax equalization program cost ten times as much as it should, a Democratic party leader charged last night.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the West End Democratic Club, Leo Achterman called the $150,565.85 cost of the new tax assessment system "fantastic . . . and staggering." Other counties of similar size are doing the job for one-tenth this cost, he said.

Achterman told the group that "the Republican party" in "just three short years" has depleted Monroe County's treasury and the county "has been forced to borrow money to meet the costs of government this year."

"The county's Republican government is operating in the hole," he said. "To all practical intents and purposes, it is bankrupt."

"Since the Republican party came into power in Monroe County in 1952, we have seen the balance in the county treasury dwindle down far below any point in recent history," Achterman said. "On January 1, 1952 when the previous administration left office, the balance in the county treasury was $95,480.85."

"Dwindling Treasury"

"Then the Republican party took over. In 1953 we were left with a balance of only $83,834.73. A year later the amount of money left in the treasury was only $60,643.05. And in January of this year—the balance was down to $52,284.29," he said. "No mathematical genius is needed to tell us that something is radically wrong with this financial picture."

"Although the treasury showed a balance of $52,284.29 on Jan. 1 this year, we find—on close examination of county records—that this total has also been spent," Achterman alleged.

"Obviously the money has disappeared," he continued. "And it is equally obvious that it must have been spent for something. What was it?"

"Fortunately we don't have to search far to find the answer. It lies in one of the most infantile follies yet committed by a Republican administration—and that's saying quite a bit for a party which is notorious for its muddled financial thinking," he said, then went on:

"The answer . . . lies . . . in the new tax assessment or equalization system . . . The Republican administration embarked on this newest nightmare for taxpayers on July 30, 1953 when it hired an engineer to set up the 'new assessment' program . . . (and) voted to pay him $900 a month (or) $5.20 an hour if he worked less than 40 hours a week.

$52,765 Question?

"Nearly two years later the Republicans counted up a few figures on their fingers and came up with the startling conclusion that things weren't moving along fast enough. So they fired the men they had hired to do the job (after handing out) $52,765 to the first group.

"Now—on top of all that—they have hired a new firm to finish the job and they're paying them $97,800. This means that if and when the system is completed . . . it will have cost Monroe County taxpayers the astonishing total of $150,565.85 at least. Present indications show that the cost will undoubtedly go far beyond that amount—to $170,000 or more."

Achterman contrasted the cost in Monroe—with a population of 33,773—to that in other counties.

"Why is it that the Republicans in Monroe County (have not used) local assessors to help establish a program which has become staggering in cost because of the vast number of outside persons needed to do the job?" he asked. "Does the waste of money we have discussed here explain why the balance in the county's account is disappearing?"

"Yet the Republican party is faced with the obligations it has made for itself financially. There's still that little item of $97,800 . . . which must be paid," he said. "No one can change this era of financial disaster but the voters themselves. When the time comes, I urge every voter to cast his ballot for Democratic candidates."

The full slate of Democratic candidates was at the meeting. Achterman closed his address with: "I hope it will not be considered unkind of me to suggest, with deep conviction, that it is, indeed, 'time for a change in Monroe County.'"

Tractor Trailer Spreads Fire, Destruction After Long Run Into Community

KITTANNING, Pa., Oct. 20 (P)—A big steel-laden tractor trailer, its brakes gone, speeded down a steep grade into a main street today, spreading fire, destruction and injury as it smashed 10 autos.

Four persons were hospitalized. The truck and two cars burned. Flames from the wreckage spread to a nearby frame residence causing minor damage.

It was the third highway disaster of its kind, in which a big truck was involved, in recent weeks. Five persons were killed at West Newton, Pa., Oct. 4 and five others died in a similar crash near Cumberland, Md. yesterday.

Brakes Failed
Charles DeTrain, 42, of Williamsport, Pa., said the truck brakes gave way when he was about a third of the way down the grade on Route 422.

The big rig negotiated an nearly 90-degree curve at the bottom of the hill and went rolling into town. About a block after entering the city street the truck struck the first vehicle.

Then in rapid succession it slammed into five other autos, pushing them to the side and rolled into four other cars. The truck halted as it plowed into the last two cars. Both were parked.

There was no estimate of the speed.

Wild disorder developed in the street as leaking gasoline from the fuel tanks of the autos and truck caught fire. The flames leaped into the air catching the side of Fred Blaney's frame home.

Firemen brought the blaze under control quickly. Blaney's house was scorched on the outside.

There was no immediate estimate of damage, but garage men summoned to tow wreckage from the street estimated quickly the vehicle damage may be as much as $30,000.

Blew Horn, Prayed

DeTrain told police: "All I did was push on the brake, blow the horn and pray."

The truck driver was not injured. Two persons pulled from one of the damage cars declined medical aid, saying they were "all right."

Police estimated the grade drops from about a 1,000-foot elevation to "river level" within a mile and a half. One officer said, "It's the steepest hill in these parts."

Police could not determine immediately how many of the first six cars were parked and how many were moving.

DeTrain was en route to Akron, Ohio, from Steelton, Pa. where he had picked up his steel cargo.

Kittanning is located on the Allegheny River about 40 miles north of Pittsburgh. Route 422 is a main east-west highway, connecting Indiana and Butler, Pa.

Menon Urges Asia, Africa S. America Be In A-Agency

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 20 (P)—V. K. Krishna Menon of India today urged the United States to include countries from Asia, Africa and Latin America in talks on an agency to supervise President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace program.

Diplomats reported Krishna Menon wanted to add India, Brazil and possibly Egypt to the eight original negotiators who have been drawing up a statute for an international atomic energy agency.

The eight originals are the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Portugal and South Africa. They were selected by the United States on the basis of being countries with atomic materials or atomic know-how. The Soviet Union was invited but has not given a definite answer.

Try To Agree
Delegates of India, the United States and the Soviet Union are trying to agree on a resolution to obtain a unanimous vote in the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee.

Krishna Menon met with James J. Wedsworth, U. S. deputy delegate, and other Western spokesmen to explain India's views. The Russians have held talks with the Americans and have more conversations in prospect.

Diplomats are predicting a unanimous plan will be worked out before the committee votes.

The Americans are trying to complete action on the statute by early next year and hope to have the agency operating before the end of 1956.

The United States, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, South Africa and Britain are sponsoring a resolution. This recommends that a second international conference on atomic energy be held in about three years, continues the advisory committee set up to advise Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on the conference, notes with "satisfaction that substantial progress" has been made toward working out the statute of the atomic agency and approves a conference of all members of the U. N. and its specialized agencies on the final text of the statute.

The Spectator reminded the royal family that "one of the functions of the monarchy . . . is above all to cement, not to divide."

The paper said a Townsend-Margaret marriage would certainly offend many loyal subjects of Queen Elizabeth here and overseas.

Picked Detectives Do Door-To-Door Stops For Clues In Slaying Of Three Teen-Agers

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (P)—Hand-picked detectives today made a door-to-door search for clues in the slaying of three boys, while a scientist savaged the youths had been given savage beatings by two or more grown men.

The task force of officers hunted in the area where the victims—Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11—vanished Sunday night.

Blue Jeans Found

A pair of blue jeans, ripped at the seam as if they had been torn off, were found in a vacant lot at 4681 Milwaukee Ave. This is about a block from the spot where the three youths stepped off a bus at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Red Entry Favored By MacArthur

By Arthur Everett

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today he was bound by the World War II Yalta concessions, although he would have opposed them had he had an opportunity.

Said the wartime Pacific commander in a statement relating to long secret Pentagon records on Yalta:

"I repeat, had my views been requested concerning the secret agreements bearing upon Russia's entrance into the Pacific war I would have opposed them as fantastic."

Advocated Entry

MacArthur freely admitted he advocated Russia's entry into the Pacific War at its very outset. But he said he never repeated the recommendation prior to Yalta. After Yalta, he declared, he was bound by the decisions made there to bring Russia into the war, even though they were unpalatable to him. MacArthur went on:

"The attempt to interpret any statements I may have made in the course of such post-Yalta discussions as reflecting my pre-Yalta views and convictions is wholly unwarranted."

MacArthur's statement came as the Pentagon records rekindled the old controversy over the Soviet entrance into the Pacific war just six days before Japan's surrender.

Last March, a Republican-Democratic debate over Yalta brought up questions on MacArthur's views then that he had not the slightest connection with the Yalta conference and added:

"Had my views been requested with reference to Yalta I would most emphatically have recommended against bringing the Soviet into the Pacific war at that late date. To have made vital concessions for such a purpose would have seemed to me fantastic."

Concurred Twice

The Pentagon records—part of an incomplete 35,000-word file—showed that MacArthur twice concurred directly in the opinion that Russia should move into the conflict against Japan.

Once was shortly after Pearl Harbor. The second was in mid-June 1945, two months before the war ended and after the Yalta conference.

Conceding these points, MacArthur said he firmly believed Russia should have been brought into the Pacific war at the very outset. As for his 1945 statement after Yalta, MacArthur declared:

"Once such decisions had been taken and communicated to me following Yalta, they became binding upon me as upon any other theater commander. All future discussions thereon with War Department representatives necessarily became limited to consideration of their ultimate application to the conduct of the war."

Long Terms For Two In Attack Case

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20 (P)—Two youths today drew long penitentiary terms after a jury convicted them of attacking a 29-year-old Lawrenceville woman.

Edward Bujalski and Frank Zajac, both 19, were both sentenced to Western Penitentiary by Judge Swerles Himes. Bujalski was sentenced for 10 to 20 years, Zajac 9 to 18 years.

Bujalski also is under indictment for criminal assaults on five teenagers. Zajac faces indictments on two other assault charges.

Previous Fame

Twenty years ago Theorell won worldwide fame by producing in pure crystalline form the so-called yellow enzyme, which is active in the combustion of oxygen in living cells.

Since 1937, he has been head of the biochemistry and medical department of the Nobel Institute.

Using similar methods he went on from the yellow enzyme to colorless, red, pink, green, and yellow oxidation enzymes, adding one discovery to another.

The Caroline Institute of Medicine announced the award.

Denies Charges

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—Winthrop Rockefeller refused to say in Supreme Court today whether he possessed "an extensive collection of pornographic material" in 1948 while married to Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller.

DEVIL, DONOR AND DISTAFF—three of the interesting types of people Community Chest workers meet in their travels—were discussed by Fran Shinn, publicity coordinator for the present Chest campaign at a meeting of house-to-house Captains yesterday at the Y. Shinn used masks made for him by Violet Clark, local artists, to illustrate his point. He recommended dignified approach and determination to help Chest meet its goal. Another photo on page 5.

Chest House-To-House Workers Receive Preliminary Pep Talk Before Operations

COUNTY COMMUNITY Chest house-to-house workers got a preliminary pep talk yesterday.

In a special meeting held at the YMCA in Stroudsburg, district captains heard Fran Shinn, publicity coordinator, tell them:

"If there is one thing your workers must remember this year, if there is one phrase to sum up the dramatic need of the Community Chest, I think this might well be it. 'Tell the people there is no better way they can help their own community this year than by giving to the Community Chest.'"

Shinn—and Mrs. Claude Leister and Walter Wyckoff, co-chairmen of the county residential Chest division—emphasized the greater needs of the Chest's 12 agencies this year. Each speaker discussed a different phase of house-to-house solicitation.

Shinn started off by asking how many of the 15 captains attending were "new to the Chest." Three held up their hands. The speaker nodded.

"That's good. It means that we have new workers who have become captains for the first time. But it also lightens the load of my speech, because it means that the majority of you have had experience raising Chest funds," he said.

The Captain's Important

"The job of being a team captain is an extremely important one—especially this year. It's your job to encourage your workers, to help them and to set a pace for them to follow," he continued.

"Don't let your workers feel they are panhandlers. They're not. Approach the job before you with dignity. You are a representative of the Community Chest—but you are, even more, a representative of this community. Not just of one part of it or a certain faction or segment—but all parts of it, every borough and township and, in the end, every family."

"You and your workers represent the 12 full-time, hard-working agencies of the Community Chest. Try to instill this spirit in your workers. You are not working for pennies. You are working for the 12 agencies who need your help and the financial help of every person in the county who can possibly give."

"It is the agencies' job to administer the money allotted to them by the Chest and to use it wisely. They will do that job as they have always done in the past. It is YOUR job to raise the money that is needed."

"Charity is its own reward. The workers—and you, yourselves, as captains—will get no other reward from the job you do than the knowledge that you have done a good job. They won't get their pictures in the paper. There will be no personal glory attached to making the calls and collecting pledge cards."

"But you have a mission. You have a target. You have an aim in what you are doing. When that mission is finished, you can take pride in yourselves and in your community—and only then," Shinn said.

Pledges and Payments

All three speakers urged captains to tell their workers about the use of pledge cards. These cards may be filled out, with designated amounts which the donors wish to give, and payment may be split up on the "installment plan" to make giving easier.

Pledge cards are the same as "money in the bank," the speaker noted, since Chest experience has shown that the vast majority of persons who sign pledges pay the full amount on schedule.

Cards and envelopes for some areas were handed out at yesterday's meeting. The house-to-house portion of the current Chest drive is not slated to begin until next Tuesday, however, the day following the Chest "kickoff" dinner for workers.

Three divisions are already working. They are the special gifts, early bird and industrial-labor divisions. Reports will be heard from them at Monday night's meeting.

Lehman Makes Pledge Of His Support

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—Adlai Stevenson made it virtually clear today he will be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I'm not counting on the New York delegation at all," he told newsmen. They took this as a plain indication he would be in the race.

Lehman Pledge

While this implied he expected Gov. Averell Harriman to be a rival candidate, at least in a favorable son capacity, Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) came out a few hours later with a pledge of support to Stevenson.

This presaged a split in the New York delegation.

Carmine G. DeSapio, Democratic national committeeman, had been working for a delegation 100 per cent for Harriman.

Lehman was the first major Democrat in New York to pledge support to Stevenson since Harriman's name has been mentioned prominently as a possible candidate at the Chicago convention next year.

Stevenson made his comment at Idlewild Airport before boarding a plane for Chicago.

Try For Blue

Newsmen had asked him about a New York Herald Tribune story that his supporters had started a move to keep the New York State delegation from giving solid backing to Harriman.

Stevenson, the Democratic candidate in 1952 and former governor of Illinois, replied:

"I neither know of nor have heard of such a thing. I'd be interested but I don't think I'd approve. I'm not counting on the New York delegation at all."

The New York delegation will have 90 votes at the convention, more than any other state.

Later Stevenson remarked:

"I haven't even said I'd seek the nomination. However, as I said last July, I expect to have something to say about that in November."

Lehman, a former New York governor, conferred with Stevenson during the latter's visit here this week.

Gives Position

Lehman's statement said: "Since my return from Europe I have been questioned repeatedly concerning my attitude toward the choice of a Democratic presidential candidate."

"My position is this: 'I campaigned vigorously with Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and since then I have discussed public questions with him. I have formed a high admiration for his character, for his ability and for his broad and liberal views, both in domestic and international affairs.'

"Many months ago I stated publicly that of the many well-qualified Democrats available for nomination, my preference was Adlai Stevenson and that I expected to support him. I see no reason for any change in my attitude or preference."

Harriman repeatedly has said he favors Stevenson but declared on a television program Oct. 9 he was not "morally bound" to support him at the convention.

Not Free Agent

The governor said he was "not entirely a free agent in this respect" because he expected to be a member of the New York delegation and "we'll decide together" when to support.

Former President Truman, during a recent visit to Albany, praised Harriman's qualifications for the nomination but declined to say whom he will support in the convention.

The Herald Tribune said Thomas K. Finletter, former Air Force secretary, who was chairman of Harriman's platform committee in the latter's successful race for governor last year, is chief of the New York Stevenson forces.

Stevenson, during his visit to New York, conferred with Finletter as well as Lehman.

Both supported Harriman for the governorship.

Ike Pledged "No War"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (P)—President Eisenhower told Russia during last July's summit conference that "under no circumstances is the United States ever going to be a party to aggressive war—against any nation."

The text of the President's assurance to the Soviets disclosed by the State Department today in making public the American records of the top level Big Four meeting.

President Marks Up Another First In Recovery Pattern

DENVER, Oct. 20 (P)—President Eisenhower put in a "very quiet day" today in a serene 24-hour interlude of rest and relaxation between Cabinet-level business conferences.

The President saw Secretary of State Dulles yesterday and will consult tomorrow with Atty. Gen. Brownell. But for today he put all official business aside—not even any papers to sign.

Eisenhower did mark up another "first" as his doctors reported continued satisfactory progress in his recovery from a heart attack.

He visited for 15 or 20 minutes in his hospital room with Clifford J. Roberts, the New York investment banker who is an old friend and bridge and golfing companion. It was the first time since his Sept. 24 heart seizure that the chief executive had had a bedside visitor other than members of his family and administration officials.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said he imagines from now on "more and more personal friends" will be allowed to drop in.

Asked for guidance on the nature of Brownell's session with the chief executive, Hagerty said he is "coming out to discuss Department of Justice matters, including some recommendations for legislation."

Since Brownell is considered something of a political mastermind for the administration, there were conjectures here and in Washington that his trip to Denver might lead to an exploratory look at the clouded political situation.

But Hagerty tapped in the head any idea that Eisenhower and Brownell might get into politics.

Seeks Clues

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 20 (P)—Police carefully combed the leaf covered grounds surrounding the Suncoast home of Mrs. Susan Holden, 52, today hoping to find fresh clues in their murder investigation.

Dulles Backed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (P)—Secretary of State Dulles won bipartisan backing in his plans for the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers conference today at a meeting with congressional leaders.

Weight Makes No Difference

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (P)—An attempt failed today to reconcile a wife with a husband who contends she's too fat. Trial of their divorce suit was set for Dec. 8.

Mrs. Lillian Korzen, 44, refused to report her weight as of today to Judge Charles S. Dougherty of Circuit Court.

"Weight has nothing to do with this," she declared. On learning efforts to bring peace between her and her husband, Michael, 45, had failed, Judge Dougherty set the trial date.

When the Korzens married in 1937 the bride weighed 127. As the years passed the 5-foot wife gained poundage until she hit 190. Korzen sued for divorce in May. He alleged she was cruel to him by letting her weight get away from her.

The court thought that if Mrs. Korzen could slim down to her wedding-day weight, the couple might be reconciled. She agreed with these results: Between May and August she lopped off 45 pounds to 145. Then she shot back to 185. By Sept. 24 she was back to 145 and was given until today to lose the remaining 18 pounds.

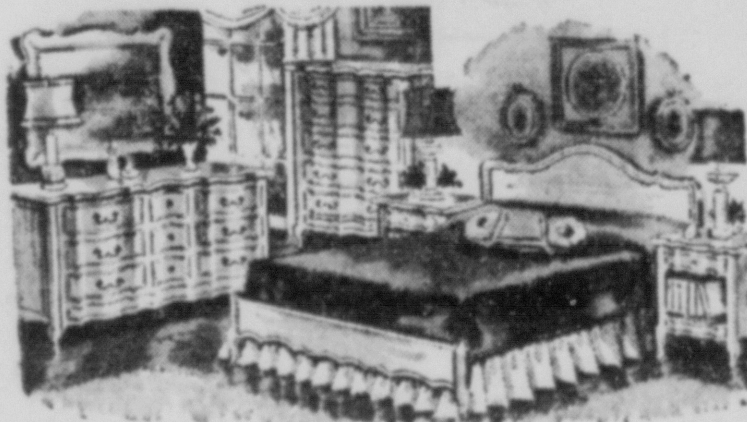

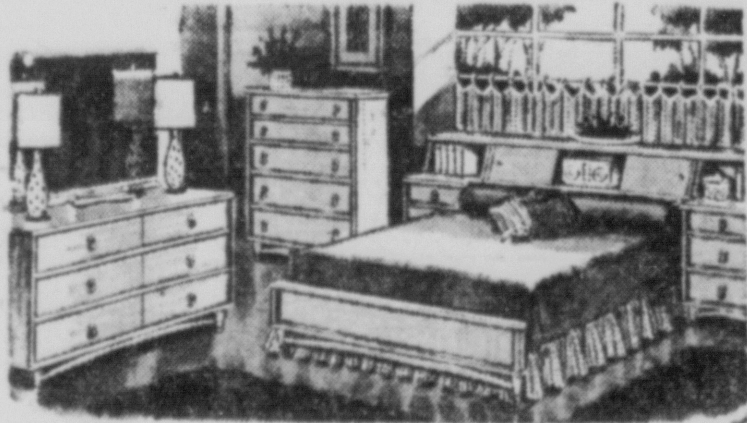

While she declined to talk poundage in court, Mrs. Korzen agreed to accompany photographers to a scale in the city sealer's office in the City Hall. The hand on the scale stopped at 147. She told cameramen her stripped weight is 140.

Damages From Last Flood Estimated By Gerstell At Near $1,000,000 In State

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20 (AP)—State officials today made a preliminary estimate of $600,000 damage caused in Pennsylvania by last week's local flooding.

"It was more like a million dollar proposition compared with the multi-million dollar figure for the mid August floods," said Dr. Richard Gerstell, state Civil Defense director.

"Practically all" of the damage recorded so far has been to highways and bridges. Gerstell added that state Highways Department surveys indicate the damage was spread fairly evenly among state, county and local roads.

Fored From Homes

"In addition several hundred persons were forced out of their homes for short periods," Gerstell said.

He estimated the total damage would "approach" one million dollars when figured completely. Latest figures on the Aug. 18 floods show a total of more than $5 million. It was divided into $3.5 million for roads, $26 for industries and about $6 million to private property, mostly homes.

"The worst spots last week were in Lycoming Twp. of Lycoming County, above Williamsport along the Lycoming Creek, and Danville along the North Branch of the Susquehanna," Gerstell said. The damage has not been broken down by counties so far.

Hard Hit

Two of the hardest hit roads were U. S. 11, which runs along the Susquehanna and Pennsylvania 14 emergency repairs to essential public facilities.

New Counties

Counties added to the list are Bradford, Lycoming, Montour, Northumberland, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, and Union. The 10 counties included in the original disaster area declaration were Carbon, Columbia, Lackawanna, Lehigh, Luzerne, Monroe, Northampton, Pike, Wayne and Wyoming.

Automatic Prison Sentences Prove To Be Drunken Driving Deterrents

It would be as naive to try to keep people from drinking as to undertake to outlaw the auto. But if we can't do more to prevent drunken driving, many innocent people are doomed to die along with sizable number of irresponsible drunks.

In a recent series of seven traffic fatalities in Washington, police attributed six to drinking on the part of the driver, the victim, or both. Many other communities could equal this dubious record.

We have laws against drunken driving, and enforcement probably is better than it used to be. But the penalties obviously are not heavy enough to prevent people from risking them. Automatic prison sentences all over the country should be the deterrent they have proved to be in areas where they have been imposed.

It is argued, in the case of youthful offenders, that harsh punishment may warp their personalities and tend to make them confirmed criminals. Maybe so, but it will keep them off the streets and highways—and a drunken driver is pretty much a criminal in the first place.

Unleashed Power Of Nature Must Be Dealt With By Human Restraint

When the devastating flash floods of August developed as an accessory to a hurricane, Pennsylvania and Connecticut particularly suffered grievous damage and loss of life, but as they dug out and began to rebuild, the people who had sustained the greatest loss felt that they would not have an immediate repetition of such tragedy.

How wrong they were, as the rains descended and the floods came once again to the eastern states, with Pennsylvania escaping much of the kind of damage inflicted in the August floods but with Connecticut once more watching the rampaging streams overflowing vast areas.

President Eisenhower, briefed at his hospital bed in Denver, promptly gave order that there be no delay in federal aid to those sections of the country most affected, and his staff was told to keep him informed on the progress of the dramatic deluge with its consequent loss of life and property.

Thousands of homes have been wiped out and countless thousands of persons had fled to higher ground and to the safety of shelter as the rains continued and the already dangerously high rivers and streams boiled over with lethal effect.

In our own commonwealth, the dedication of the new $13.5 million flood control system along the Susquehanna river and Lycoming creek was particularly timely, for the fifteen miles of dikes weathered their first test after last week's torrential downpours.

Their construction pointed up the need for an even greater expansion of flood control projects in our own and neighboring states, for there is certainly no indication that we will ever be free of nature in the raw.

How great the cost of the most recent catastrophe, in lives and property, is still not measureable but that it will be huge cannot be denied.

We know we cannot control the force of the weather, despite the number of dams and dikes and other flood control systems constructed, but we also know that more of them must be put in place if the awful force of uncontrolled waterpower is to be held in check.

We do know that our human agencies set up to save life and property function with marvelous effectiveness, as they have demonstrated time and time again and are demonstrating at this very minute.

Once again, as during August disasters, we have evidence of how intricate is our modern civilization, and how easily the daily routine of our lives can be affected. Not so much in Pennsylvania this time, but in Connecticut and the other flooded New England areas electric power damage denied light and power to large areas, cutting off cooking, refrigeration, and communications. Yet, even as these things were denied so many families, another element of modern life resumed its effective demonstration, as lifesaving helicopters carried hundreds to safety.

Whatever the immediate causes of this latest disaster, we must learn from them how to combat the force of uncontrolled streams, whatever be the means.

Certainly the unleashed power of Nature is something with which we must always deal but if we can find human means of restraining such awesome power we will have progressed in our civilization.

In the meanwhile, as always, there will be an outpouring of unselfish, neighborly aid to those who have suffered, as the Red Cross and other agencies go into action, and friend helps friend in their time of great need.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Does State Department Want Us To Forget Geneva Talks Until There's Fait Accompli?

When it was announced that the United States and Communist China would meet at Geneva, the purpose was clearly stated as relating to the single question of the release of American prisoners held in Red China. The American people were never told that other political matters were on the agenda.

The "People's Daily" of Peking has an altogether different view of the Geneva meeting. In an article by Observer, which may be regarded as official, the following appears:

"After the agreement on the return of civilians, people expected the talks to go on to discuss and settle other practical matters at issue between the two sides. However, U. S. press reports disclosed that the United States did not want fast progress in the further discussion. As far as China was concerned, it tried to help the talks forward. China's positive efforts to carry further the discussions of questions that contribute to easing tension between the two countries should not be misinterpreted. Attempts to use these efforts as a basis for blackmail can achieve no purpose other than to obstruct the progress of the talks."

Then the article continued: "All cases of Americans who have committed crimes in China must be investigated and dealt with individually according to China's legal procedure and the crimes and behavior of those convicted. China's policy toward the convicted Americans has been consistently lenient. U. S. press reports have stated that the U. S. side, before agreement was reached on the return of civilians of both sides, had demanded at the talks that all the Americans who committed crimes in China be released within a specified period and that this demand was firmly rejected by the Chinese side.

"A demand like this is bound to be rejected by the Chinese side. It is an inviolable sovereign right of any country to deal with cases of convicted foreign nationals in accordance with its laws. China will not concede to any demand that encroaches on its sovereignty. Since the agreement on the question of the return of civilians was reached after the Chinese side firmly rejected this demand, there is absolutely no reason why the demand should be repeated after the argument."

This Geneva Conference is lost in the silences of censorship. The American people have not the slightest idea as to what is happening at this conference. I get some idea of it by reading what occasionally appears in China. The State Department pursues a policy of deadly silence. But the Conference continues. It may last forever. The Peking article gives this side of it:

"According to facts admitted by the U. S. State Department, there are, obviously, still many Chinese nationals in the United States who up until now do not dare to apply to return home because of the long years of intimidation and persecution. That is why it was necessary to stipulate, in the agreement on the return of civilians, that a third country assist those desiring to go home. China has invited the Republic of India to assist Chinese nationals in the United States to return.

"The agreement concerning arrangements for the third country has just begun to be put into effect, but the U. S. State Department alleges that the leaving of the three Chinese nationals is the 'last' group. This obviously contradicts the whole spirit of the agreement reached by both sides. There are many Chinese nationals in the United States. Whether they can exercise their right to return home or not is a trial of U. S. sincerity about carrying out the agreement."

The fact is that any Chinese student in the United States who wishes to leave this country can do so, and all who wanted to leave have gone.

This is an interesting example of how confusing simple international issues can become. A conference is called to arrange for a return of hostages. The counterclaim is made that the Chinese students in the United States are also held as hostages. Then there is a demand that a few Chinese students in the United States elect to return to China.

Then other issues are raised. What are the other issues? Presumably the question of recognition is discussed. What is said? No one tells us. Does the State Department want us to forget this prolonged Geneva Conference until the American people are faced by a fait accompli?

These needs have been met and we have resources left, we plan to do other things. A report will be prepared and sent to you.

Thank you for your trust. You have permitted us to help in your name.

Our people are appreciative, for every day brings verbal testimonies of thanks for kindnesses given. God Bless you.

Going By Price Tags Saves Study Of Values

Speaking of money, seems to me it was Sophie Tucker who said she knew what it was to have it and not to have it and "believe me, it's better to have it."

I have no stomach for disputing that. But there is more comfort in a sour-grapes view on the subject than might be supposed.

In my more philosophic moments I'm not so sure I'd like being loaded. This is not going to be another rehash of the old contention that the best things in life are free. That may be true enough but it doesn't necessarily mean anything.

Most people like inferior things better than the best if they have to pay for them. Going by the price tags saves the effort of sharpening up a more penetrating sense of values.

Nor am I going to review all the peculiar trials and tribulations of the rich—worrying about their investments, clipping coupons, sidestepping chiselers and freeloaders, snake-hipping through the snares of the tax laws.

All that makes for a very tough life, no doubt, but I notice most of them manage to sweat it out.

The main reason I don't envy the rich, much, is that they have to live isolated, unrealistic lives. Great wealth inevitably insulates its possessor against the strong currents that control the lives of most of the people around them.

Whatever the shortcomings of this world it's the best world we have—offering a vastly richer and more exciting range of experiences than any little private world anybody can set up within its confines. Our best prospects of a full, satisfying life rest on trying to live in it—and I mean live, not just exist.

To feel at home in an environment you have to understand it, to know something about the forces that shape it. And to know those forces you have to feel them at work, first hand.

The rich man can stoke himself with the best education money can buy and he still won't really know what makes the world tick. His money swathes him in an economic cocoon through which he can never feel personally the basic stresses and strains that make other people do the things they do.

Most people in this world live pretty close to the fundamental forces that determine survival. They measure in hours or days, not in years, their distance from such vital questions as "How will we eat?" and "How will we protect ourselves from exposure?"

Anybody who thinks he senses the impact of those questions because he listens to the handyman's troubles or calls the janitor by his first name is kidding himself. The man with a million dollars in his sock-poor fellow—just can't ever savor the full flavor of a world in which most folks have nothing in them but feet.

The stranger, appreciative of Sobol's obvious efforts to please him, said, "If you ever go to Denmark, I'd like to give you a letter of introduction to my sister. You two will like each other, I know."

"Fine," enthused Sobol, "but how will I know where to reach her?" "You won't have any trouble," Bernadotte assured him. "She's the Queen, you know."

Robert S. Allen Reports

Saudi-Arabia Uprising With Battle At Formosa Possible

Washington: Two particularly ominous developments are behind Secretary of State Dulles' special conference with congressional leaders.

1. A possible revolt against King Saud of oil-rich Saudi Arabia, a militant ally of Egypt's Premier Nasser.

2. Warning from Ambassador Krishna Menon that Red China will launch its long-threatened offensive against the Nationalist-held Quemoy and Matsu Islands unless Dulles agrees to direct negotiations with Premier Chou En-lai.

An uprising in Saudi-Arabia, or the resumption of fighting in the Middle East and Far East. Anything can happen in these highly explosive coconuts once shooting starts.

Secretary Dulles is not minimizing either sinister menace. Peiping's demand was communicated to him by Menon at an unpublished meeting. During their hour-and-a-half-minute discussion, the Indian envoy strongly urged the parley sought by the Communists on the ground it would "ease world tensions and greatly strengthen the chances for peace."

Menon also advocated the establishment of diplomatic relations between the U. S. and Red China for the same reason.

The seething situation in Saudi-Arabia is touch-and-go.

King Saud is so fearful of being run out by dissident army elements that he is arming and paying large amounts of money to fanatical tribesmen as a counter measure.

For this purpose, he is using American weapons and funds.

What it's about — Saud has had a succession of internal difficulties since succeeding to the throne several years ago.

His late father, the famed King Ibn Saud, was firmly pro-Western, particularly the U. S. He brought in American companies to develop Saudi-Arabia's fabulous oil resources—to the tune of upwards of $170,000,000 in yearly royalties.

Under the absolute rule there, this immense income flows into royal coffers.

That's the crux of the mounting disaffection against Saud.

Unlike his able father, the young King is spending little of this revenue to improve the lot of his people and country. He is being especially tight-handed toward the American-trained and equipped army, which is small in numbers but well regarded as a military force.

As a result of Saud's undisguised hostility, the army is on the verge of revolt.

To save his endangered throne, Saud has resorted to arming tribesmen and bivouacking them at key points. He has also launched a propaganda movement against "alien influences."

Spearheading this drive is an organization titled "League for the Prevention of Sin and the Promotion of Virtue."

Saud is putting up the money for this outfit, which consists chiefly of "goon squads," as they are described in an Intelligence report. Their principal activity is beating up and terrorizing anyone suspected of being critical of the king.

Since Nasser's rise, Saud has been a warm supporter of the Egyptian dictator's increasingly anti-Western stand.

Latest inside word is that Saud is following Nasser on accepting Red arms.

The Saudi-Arabian monarch is also slapping at the U. S. in another way.

He has ordered all students attending American schools to return immediately to their homeland. U. S.-educated Saudi-Arabians have been in the forefront in seeking greater public role in their country. Saud is violently against giving up any of his autocratic controls.

Peiping's Threat — Ambassador Menon's warning is the second time he has acted as intermediary for the Chinese Communists.

The other occasion was shortly before last summer's historic "summit" parley.

In that instance the Indian diplomat, who is Premier Nehru's closest adviser on foreign affairs, told both President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles that the only hope of securing the release of Americans imprisoned in Red China was to negotiate directly with Peiping.

Soon after the "summit" conference, Dulles announced that Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson would begin talks with a Peiping representative on the POW issue.

Since then, the Reds have liberated a number of long-held airmen and civilians. Johnson's discussions are still in progress, although in recent weeks Peiping has been insistently clamorous for new negotiations on the foreign ministers level—that is, directly between Dulles and Chou En-lai.

In his latest talk with Dulles, Menon stated his government has been notified by Peiping that it "does not intend to continue indefinitely the conditions which brought about the cease-fire in the Formosa area."

The import of this warning is: (1) That Red China considers a cease-fire as in effect regarding Formosa for the time being, and (2) the Communists are prepared to resume the fighting there unless the U. S. agrees to a direct meeting between Dulles and Chou En-lai.

Menon expressed the view that this demand will be brought up by Molotov at the Big Four conference which opens in Geneva next week.

Federal School Aid Debate

—by H. G. Heller

The long-smoldering issue on Federal aid exploded on the floors of three state conferences on education last month.

In two states — New York and Colorado — motions from the conference floor either changed somewhat or strengthened considered resolutions on the subject of Federal aid. In a third state—Tennessee — last-ditch attempts to pigeon-hole the issue "for further study" were decisively beaten.

Other state conferences found the issue a hot potato. Massachusetts found "disagreement" among the delegates and made no recommendation. Vermont's workshop group on finance came out in favor of Federal aid for school buildings only, but since the state's reports were "received" rather than "adopted," it was not debated on the floor of the general session. Virginia's finance report was a painstaking "no, but—" on the issue of Federal aid.

In Idaho, West Virginia and Kentucky the majority of delegates supported the proposition that education is a joint responsibility of local, state and Federal governments. In Missouri, a strong stand favoring Federal aid was approved.

In New York, the issue was considered so important that a special debate was prepared, with members of all panels discussing finance and efficiency participating. Four speakers presented their views, and this was followed by a general debate.

The discussion group voted for Federal aid without Federal control by 41-19—but the big blow-off was still to come. In the closing hours of the session the question was heatedly discussed on the general convention floor during the vote on resolutions.

The Empire State's resolutions committee prepared a statement recommending that all three levels of government — Federal, state and local—should participate in financing necessary programs of education. Several speakers denounced the wording as a meaningless platitude.

"The Federal government is participating in education right now," one delegate maintained. "What we want is more Federal aid."

Here's the way the final resolution read as amended:

"We believe that all levels of government should participate in financing necessary programs of education. In view of the grave educational crisis the states and localities cannot meet, we call upon the Federal government to help the states adequately to meet the crisis."

Commissioners Expected To Establish Housing Authority

Action May Be Taken On Monday

MONROE County commissioners are expected to establish and appoint members to housing and redevelopment authorities when they convene in regular session next Monday.

This announcement was made last night by Rev. Roger C. Stimson, pastor of Stroudsburg Methodist Church and a leading figure in the county's flood rehabilitation program.

To Seek Units
Once the authorities have been established, steps will immediately be taken to obtain Federal housing units for the Stroudsburgs, Mr. Stimson indicated. Congress has approved appropriations for 45,000 units this year.

A steering committee named only recently to study the housing problem here will meet this afternoon to discuss the best methods of determining local housing needs. This information will then be passed on to Federal authorities when steps are taken to obtain planning and building funds, the clergyman explained.

Ask For Funds
The first step will be to ask for preliminary planning funds. The Public Housing Authority already has received such requests from 14 flood-battered communities in Connecticut and five in Massachusetts.

Once this is done, local authority members will pick a site for the proposed housing development and have it appraised. At the same time, architects will be selected and estimates will be drawn. The law states that the cost of building and equipping units is not to exceed $1,750 a room.

Mother Drops Child To Milkman

BUFFALO, Oct. 20 (P)—A mother dropped her three-year-old son 16 feet into the arms of a passing milkman today as smoke and flames filled her second floor flat.

Cal Rose, the milkman, said he was driving his truck past the frame dwelling when he saw smoke and heard a woman screaming, "My baby! My baby!"

Rose rushed to the house and Mrs. Jean Drogowski dropped her son, Ross, into his arms. The child was not hurt.

Firemen said the fire began in a chimney and caused an estimated $3,500 damage.

State Draft Call Set At 3,000 Men

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20 (P)—The state selective service headquarters reported today the state quota for induction into federal service in December is 1,349 men.

Col. Henry M. Gross, selective service director, said the men, to be inducted between Dec. 1 and Dec. 10, must be over 21. The national call is for 18,000 men, of whom 8,000 will go to the Army and 10,000 to the Navy.

Neely Calls Freight Rate Extension To '52 Improper

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (P)—Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) said today he will ask Congress to investigate and reverse an Interstate Commerce Commission order extending indefinitely the "temporary" increase in freight rates granted the railroads in 1952.

He called the order unjustified. He added in a statement, issued through his office, that he would introduce a bill in the next session of Congress to "make redress to the coal industry, the farmer and other shippers whose economic opportunities are thus sacrificed in favor of the further enrichment of railroad stockholders."

He contended the order raises doubt as to whether the ICC had intended in the first place to make the billion dollar a year increase a temporary one.

"The supposed temporary rate increase was based on the need to provide the necessary equipment for improved service," Neely said.

But he said the year book of railroad information published by the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference "shows very clearly what happened to these lush profits. In 1954 the cash dividends paid to stockholders amounted to $379,231,492 — the highest since the days of the Republican spree of the late 20's."

He said "the current weekly shortage of some 20,000 hopper cars and gondolas is conclusive evidence that the resultant enhanced income from the higher rates was not expended as stipulated."

Trains Now Running "On Time"

ALL DL & W trains now are running on schedule again, it was reported last night by H. J. Muschok, ticket agent in East Stroudsburg.

Last weekend's torrential rains resulted in a slight washout of tracks in the Devil's Hole area. The company cancelled service pending a complete check of tracks running through the area where heavy rains fell.

Muschok said everything went back on schedule as of 4:35 yesterday afternoon when the Phoebe Snow passed through East Stroudsburg. At 6:42, Train Number 5, enroute to Buffalo, travelled through this area.

Safe Driving Day

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (P)—The President's Committee for Traffic Safety says every governor has appointed a state director for the nation's second annual Safe Driving Day Dec. 1.

The plane burst into flames and Sonderman apparently was killed instantly.

Fairchild has been testing the Dutch jet prior to a cross-country demonstration tour of Air Force and naval bases. Fairchild would build the plane, under an agreement with Royal Netherlands Aircraft Factory Fokker, if United States military leaders decided to buy some of the planes.

The much-decorated World War II fighter pilot is survived by his wife and three children in Amsterdam.

Now is the time to erect an enduring Memorial, an appropriate expression of love and respect to those near and dear.

Mrs. Jones Named Head Of Child Health

THE CHILD Health Committee — one of 12 Community Chest agencies — held a regular board meeting this week.

Mrs. R. Frederick Jones was named president of the organization. Dr. Horace Butler is the newly-elected secretary-treasurer. Other board members are Mrs. Clifford Heller, Mrs. J. L. Cohen and William Gorton, Mrs. Donald Gilpin is the executive secretary.

Land Appraisal
At this time, Mrs. Gilpin reported, the group is handling more dental work than anything else. The Child Health Committee is designed to aid parents in providing medical care for children where families are unable to meet all the expenses or any of them.

Referral System
Cases needing dental or medical attention are referred to the Child Health Committee by school nurses, doctors or by families themselves. Information may be secured by contacting Mrs. Gilpin at her home phone.

Directors noted that, immediately following the flood, they had been uncertain whether or not the committee would be able to continue its work. Now, with a better financial picture before them, the board said, the work of the group will be continued.

Wiedimmyer To Speak At Institute

The East Stroudsburg man is the author of many articles on special music instruction methods. At today's conference in Reading, he will address music and elementary teachers of the county.

Grange Members Told Big Dam At Wallpack Bend May Not Be Built For 15 Years

GRANGE MEMBERS have been advised it may take 10 to 15 years before actual construction begins on the proposed Wallpack Bend Dam near Bushkill.

This prediction was made Saturday at a meeting of Monroe-Pike Pomona Grange 64, by Rivermaster W. V. Irons of Milford. The meeting was held in the Raymondskill Valley Grange Hall.

Explaining the route and territory of the proposed dam, Irons said an even level is expected throughout with an estimated depth of 420 feet above sea level.

Land Appraisal
Irons based his belief that it will take as much as 15 years before work begins on the fact that land will have to be appraised and taken. Moreover, money will have to be raised and agreement will have to be reached on the capacity and amount of land to be taken.

Four locations are spotted, he said, for recreational areas. There will be no reservations on swimming and land owners could have a lake frontage.

The fifth degree was conferred in full form to four candidates by the following officers:

Degree Team
Andrew Teachman, master; Emil Laubscher, overseer; Gladys Blitz, lecturer; Edith San Pietro, chaplain; Clyde Rowe, steward; Edmond McEvoy, assistant steward; Lucille Percival, lady assistant steward; Myrtle Laubscher, secretary; Alvin Blitz, treasurer.

Levi Percival, gate-keeper; Percy Polloy, pianist; Margaret Gaville, Flora; Josie Klesel, Pomona; Anna Braird, Ceres; Maybert Crane, first court lady; Martha Bradshaw, second court lady; Susan Moreaux, third court lady; Bertha Volker, fourth court lady; Hazel DeGarmo, emblem bearer;

Fellowship Dinner Set For Thursday

BETWEEN 100 and 125 persons are expected to attend the annual fellowship dinner of the Monroe County Sunday School Association at 6 p.m. next Thursday at Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

Warren W. Godshall, association president, said each church school is requested to send at least two delegates to the dinner and business meeting. Reservations should be mailed as soon as possible to Mrs. Harold Lee in care of the Presbyterian Church.

Recognition

Recognition awards for distinguished Sunday school service will be made at the banquet session.

The convention opens with a service at the church at 7:45 next Wednesday. At that time, Miss Mabel Francis, a veteran foreign missionary will speak. Following her talk, brief messages on the Japanese and African foreign missions fields will be presented by two local girls, Miss Helen Harvey and Miss Barbara Hartman.

Dr. Howard Moody Morgan, pastor of the Chambers-Wylie Memorial Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, will speak at the 7:45 p.m. service next Thursday.

Deferral Exams To Be Given

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20 (P)—Tests to determine eligibility for deferral from service will be given Pennsylvania college students on Nov. 16 and next April 19, state Selective Service headquarters announced today.

The exams are to be given by Science Research Associates, Inc. of Chicago. Deadline for filing applications to take the tests were fixed by Lt. Col. Henry M. Gross, state Selective Service director, as Nov. 2 and March 5.

Deferral can be granted persons whose study is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest. First students must make a score of 70 or more in the qualification test or a satisfactory rank in class.

With 12,000 Europeans and 325,000 natives, Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo has doubled in size since World War II.

Constitutional Amendments Affects Teachers, Employees

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20 (P)—A lone constitutional amendment proposal to appear on the Nov. 8 election ballot will decide if state employees and school teachers already retired shall be "ensured" of continued additional pension payments.

The amendment to the state's basic law would have the effect of "making certain" of the legality of a system under which increased benefits are now paid to some 4,500 retired state employees at a cost of about 2 1/2 million dollars.

Not Less Than $100

The system allows for the payment of not less than $100 to former state employees on full retirement.

The bulk of those receiving the added benefits are former school teachers and other employees of the Department of Public Instruction who went into retirement 15 or more years ago.

Only a few hundred recipients of the state Employees Retirement Fund—a separate pension system from the Public School Employees Retirement Fund—are receiving the additional money.

The proposal has passed both houses of the General Assembly during two consecutive sessions.

The amendment would apply to pensioned workers of the state government and any local political subdivision. It carries the backing of both parties.

Some school teachers who retired more than 20 years ago at the age of 62 after completing 32 years of service, were receiving as little as $25 a month pension before the additional payment system was instituted.

Only $55 Monthly

Dr. Ralph Swan, acting superintendent of public instruction, pictured the additional payments as "a very fine thing."

Although the department said it would be impossible to give the exact number of retired teachers receiving the extra payments, it said "it's safe to say that a good many of them are retired teachers."

Full retirement eligibility under the state Retirement Fund calls for 25 years' service and 60 years of age.

Affects Municipalities

The constitutional change also would allow additional payments to be made, subject to General Assembly approval, under retirement systems now in effect in 30 counties and municipalities.

The Public Instruction Department has asked for $2,100,000 in its proposed budget for the 1955-57 biennium to cover the cost of the additional payments.

No figure on the added funds to be paid through the state Retirement Fund were available but a spokesman said the amount is very small.

Martin Hopes President Will Seek Re-election

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (P)—House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts said he believes President Eisenhower's health would be no more endangered by another term in the White House than by retirement to his Pennsylvania farm.

But he would not flatly predict that the stricken President would run for re-election.

"I hope he can be a candidate," Martin told a news conference. "But I have nothing that leads me to the conclusion that he will be a candidate."

Martin said he would not urge the President to run again.

"That is a decision he alone must make," he said, adding that world and domestic conditions and the President's health at the time necessarily would enter into the decision.

Martin declined to say whom he would favor for the GOP nomination if Eisenhower declines to run.

Decries State Control Of Education

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20 (P)—State control of education means "democracy will surely die," the Rev. Joseph I. Boyle, dean of the graduate school at Villanova, told 3,000 delegates today at the first session of the Catholic Educational Assn. of Pennsylvania.

"We must remember that control of schools is the first weapon of dictatorship," Father Boyle said. "The mere mention of Nazism and Soviet communism is sufficient evidence on this point."

He added, "Perhaps one important reason for that continued freedom is the existence of our private schools."

Rookie Cop Kills Brother Of Officer

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20 (P)—A rookie cop shot and killed the brother of a fellow policeman today after he broke loose from arresting officers.

Fatally wounded was James King, 36, a former preliminary fighter. A single bullet fired by Patrolman Thomas Miller struck King in the head.

Asst. Police Supt. Lawrence J. Maloney said Miller and another officer responded after a call from a woman in Pittsburgh's Hill District complained a man was going berserk.

Broke Loose

The officers said they got King out of the house but he broke loose and ran after a scuffle with them.

Miller said he fired after King failed to halt.

Miller, who joined the force only eight months ago, was treated at Mercy Hospital for cuts and bruises. King's brother, Patrolman John Henry King Jr., is assigned to the Penn. Ave. Station.

Set Aside Dismissal Of Teacher

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20 (P)—Common Pleas Court today set aside the dismissal of a high school English teacher who had been fired for "incompetency" after refusing to tell a congressional committee or the Board of Education about alleged past Communist connections.

President Judge Curtis Bok and Judges Gerald F. Flood and Louis G. Levinthal ordered the discharge of Herman A. Beilan, 43, upset. The decision was the first affecting the group of 20 teachers dismissed in January, 1954, after they took refuge under the Fifth when questioned about past affiliations by the then superintendent of schools, Dr. Louis P. Hoyer. Court observers could not say whether the Beilan decision would affect the "fired" status of the other 19 teachers though the legal action had been regarded as a test case.

Beilan had taught in the Philadelphia school system 24 years. His dismissal was upheld by the state superintendent of public instruction. He then appealed to the Common Pleas Court.

The three judges ruled that school authorities followed incorrect procedure in dismissing Beilan, and stated that the grounds for the discharge were not supported by the record.

The court's decision said that the Board of Education, in dismissing Beilan, should have acted under the state's Pechan Loyalty Act—51 at all—instead of the Teachers Tenure Act.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Bond, 228 North 9th St., and John H. Schuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Schuler of Stroudsburg, R.D. 2, were married on Saturday, Oct. 15 at 4 p.m. in the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton performed the double ring ceremony and administered the Holy Communion rites.

The church was decorated with altar vases filled with white roses and pompons. The family pews were marked with satin bows.

Mrs. O. Richard Howell of Tannersville, organist, furnished traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Beulah McConnell, soloist, who sang "Because," "Prayer of Perfect," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a rose-art gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The gown featured a portrait neckline and long fitted sleeves tapering at the wrists. The princess bodice of Chantilly lace merged into a bouffant skirt of nylon tulle with panels of lace to the hemline ending in a cathedral train. Her veil, of silk illusion, was doubled tiered and styled to a fitted cloche of Chantilly and highlighted with pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and pompons with white satin streamers.

The matron-of-honor, Mrs. Donald Hahn, the bride's sister, was attired in a strapless floor length gown of orchid net and lace over tulle. Her head-piece was a fitted cloche with matching veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchid pompons and yellow roses with orchid satin streamers.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Harry Smith and Miss Patricia Bensel, wore gowns similar in design of lace and net over tulle with headpieces identical to that worn by the maid-of-honor. Mrs. Smith's gown was yellow and she carried a contrasting bouquet of roses, while Miss Bensel was dressed in mint green, also carrying a contrasting bouquet of roses.

Donald Hahn was best man while Jack P. Singer and Harry Smith served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore an orchid rose point lace dress over tulle with black velvet accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a black print dress and black accessories with a red rose corsage.

Following the wedding, a dinner was served for the bridal party at Al Bescher's, after which a reception was held in their honor at the Tannersville Fire Hall. The hall was decorated with bells, streamers, and fall flowers. A five-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom (baked by Mrs. Clyde White) was surrounded by miniature dolls, dressed to match each gown worn in the bridal party. A buffet luncheon was served to approximately 200 guests.

Ernie Bittenbender and his orchestra furnished music for round and square dancing.

The newlyweds are at home in their furnished apartment on Route 611, R. D. 3, Stroudsburg.

The bridegroom is employed at Marsh's Foundry.

Rain Or Shine Brownies Meet And Have Fun

Brownies of Troop 1 had a gala day at the home of Debbie Shinn in Vacation Valley on Saturday. It was planned for rain or shine by the Fairy and Elf Patrols. Small luncheons were supplemented by hot dogs, and "somers."

A lighted birthday cake and surprise for Jane Kirk added to the fun. Games, songs, and dancing were part of the program. The biggest surprise of all was a ride in the rain on Candy, Debbie's birthday horse. Brownies, always prepared, had worn kerchiefs, jackets and boots to make the riding possible even in the rain. As did Debbie's father who led the horse.

Every Brownie made a wish-boat and after lighting the candle, sailed it on a little stream, and will only tell the wish when it comes true.

Stories were read during quiet time, and The Brownie Story was dramatized by the older Brownies. Closing songs were sung, and Mrs. Norman Vaughn, Mrs. Samuel Monatt, Mrs. Parke Kunkle, Mrs. Helen Dippie and Mrs. Lillian Acker escorted the Brownies to their homes.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

When time has stopped for you, it comes with a faint sense of wonder to discover that clocks have been ticking right along at their usual pace for everybody else. The wonder is only faint because at such a time, it's dangerous to do anything but breathe lightly with just the top of your lungs, speak of anything but casual things, or look anywhere but at the surface of things.

Most of us, I guess, can remember the pattern of bricks outside the dentist's window — memorized as we waited the dentist drill. Usually, too, there's a ceiling from our childhood imprinted on our brain with each crack and gurgle by the seemingly endless hours we stared at it while sick-a-bed.

So now is it possible to concentrate on little things — the pattern of lace on a new bride's wedding gown — the picture of Brownies riding horseback in the rain — the flood of Halloween parties in the offing — the busy business of the club meetings.

Caught in a crowd, we can study any casual stranger's face, concentrating on a single feature, say a nose, and by and by it seems as if noses must be the most grotesque thing in the world. Watch your fingers moving on a typewriter and the words coming out, grammatical but without any relationship to you.

The little things do help — everyday things like peeling potatoes, emptying the vacuum cleaner, running out of sugar. But you've got to watch them. Little things can be treacherous, too. You take down two coffee cups — when there's only need for one — and the world ends all over again.

Supreme Court Of Canada Will Review Bizarre Murder Case Against Coffin

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (P)—The Supreme Court of Canada will review the bizarre case against convicted murderer Wilbert Coffin Dec. 5.

The date for the hearing falls three days after the 44-year-old Gaspé prospector is scheduled to be hanged. However, officials said there will be an automatic postponement of the execution by the Quebec Attorney-General's Department, the sixth since Coffin was sentenced Aug. 5, 1954.

Three Died

Coffin was convicted at Percé, Que., of murdering Richard Lindsey, 17, one of three Hollidaysburg, Pa., hunters whose bear-gnawed bones were found in the Gaspé Peninsula bush a year earlier. The two other hunters were Lindsey's father, Eugene Lindsey, 47, and a companion, Frederick Claar, 17.

Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin set the date in chambers following consultation with counsel for the attorney general of Canada, the Quebec Attorney General's Department and Coffin. He was asked to set the date in a notice of motion filed by the attorney general of Canada. He also ruled that counsel for Coffin should provide the court by Nov. 5 grounds for the appeal and that argument of the Quebec attorney general should be provided by Nov. 26.

Court Ready

Chief Justice Kerwin said the court is ready to go ahead with the hearing within two weeks. However, Paul Miquelon of the Quebec Attorney General's Department said he would be unable to proceed until at least Nov. 21 and George Perley-Robertson, Ottawa agent for Coffin, proposed a date early in December.

Veterans Day

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20 (P)—Gov. Leader today designated Nov. 11 Veterans Day and called on the Commonwealth's citizens to assist "in every way" to insure widespread observance of the anniversary.

RILEY

Sports Editor

MONROE COUNTY is in for its biggest football weekend of the season and one of the biggest in history beginning tonight. All three local grid machines are booked for home appearances and each against just about the strongest opposition that could be found at this stage of the campaign. Not only will the games be just about the best possible, but each is the type which draws extra color and additional excitement to the program.

Right now our record of predicting winners and losers on the local front is an extremely poor eight correct and six incorrect. Future prospects aren't too bright, what with upsets dotting the football front from coast to coast and border to border this season. But, just to prove that even we of weak minds don't quit in mid stream, we'll take a crack at this week's three battles.

Stroudsburg opens the calendar of events by meeting Whitehall at Gordon Giffels Field tonight. The Mountaineers have improved by leaps and bounds in recent weeks, but the injuries to Ron "Super" Phillips and Doug Shook this week have severely handicapped the charges of Coach John Whitehead, so much so that I believe Whitehead will win tonight. But, not by any sort of glowing margin.

It is quite possible that Shook may play, even though he had six stitches taken in a facial cut on Tuesday. Shook's appearance in the Stroudsburg lineup will give the Mountaineers a shot in the arm that could result in an upset. If the Whitehead pupils tackle and play as they did against Pen Argyl, regardless of who is in the lineup, they could defeat Whitehall, a team that was forced to play two games this week because of rain. The Zephyrs took the measure of Lehigh on Monday, 25-19.

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, showing in-and-out form thus far in the present campaign, plays host to a strong West Chester club up on Normal Hill tomorrow afternoon. Regardless of how they look in other games, the Warriors are usually able to come up with something good against the always powerful Rams. ESSTC defeated West Chester last season, but has never been able to turn the trick two years running, at least not in this modern day and age.

With an opportunity to make history, by defeating West Chester two years running, this character will stick his neck out and select ESSTC to land its third football victory of the current campaign, as compared to one defeat. West Chester is currently in first place in the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Football Conference, a position the Rams were forced to share with ESSTC and Bloomsburg last season. If the home town line holds up tomorrow, the Warriors can turn the trick.

Tomorrow night a pair of clubs, who have been at each others throats for the past five years, will battle at Memorial Stadium. The only thing at stake in the contest is the number one position in the Lehigh-Northampton League. Yes, the East Stroudsburg High-Wilson Borough struggle is a perfect contest to cap a big weekend of football. Two more severe football rivals can't be found.

East Stroudsburg has never beaten Wilson since "Judd" Hall became coach of the Warriors. But, the Cavaliers and Nazareth are the only foes to give Wilson any trouble in recent campaigns. East Stroudsburg has failed to win twice in the last three seasons by a single touchdown and on one occasion was robbed of victory in the final minutes of play. While this reporter has his neck hanging out, it might be a good chance to pick two long shots. With a fond hope of good luck, we'll pick East Stroudsburg over Wilson.

If members of the East Stroudsburg football squad would like to give Coach Jack Kist a present for the manner in which he has lifted the N. Courtland St. gridders from the football depths, this is their opportunity. Kist, a former Wilson Borough High student, would give anything to trip the Warriors. A good hard game of football, right up to the final whistle, could do the trick. The Cavaliers will have to go a long way on spirit, but they're just the bunch of kids who could travel the distance. Both the Cavaliers and Wilson are undefeated in league play—that is up until 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Stroudsburg To Entertain Whitehall Foe Tonight

Mountaineers Search For Second Win

STROUDSBURG High will entertain Whitehall in a Lehigh Valley League football game at Gordon Giffels Field today at 8 p. m. The Mountaineers will be searching for their second victory in five outings against the strong band of Zephyrs.

The Mountaineers will also feature the annual "Mothers Night" under the auspices of the Stroudsburg High Athletic Association. Mothers of the various players on the squad will be honored guests at the game.

Stroudsburg, fresh from a 15-0 victory over Pen Argyl and almost two weeks of rest, will be forced to send a patched up lineup against Whitehall today because of two injuries which occurred during a practice session this week.

Ron "Super" Phillips, regular left halfback, suffered a dislocated shoulder and is lost to the team for the balance of the current campaign. Doug Shook, big pass catching end, suffered a lacerated mouth and will not see action tonight.

Shook is scheduled to have six stitches from the cut on Saturday or Monday.

In the backfield the Mountaineers will counter with Ronnie Stopp at quarterback; either Roger Lane or Bob Phillips, left half; Co-Captain Don Hayes, right half, and Bill Bolich, fullback.

Gary Guthrie, recently recovered from a broken collarbone, will see service at fullback, while Ronnie Hallett will hold down a defensive halfback post.

Defense

Jerry Simanock will back up the line with Ken Barthold on defense and Bob Armistage will handle a defensive tackle position during the contest.

Tonight's encounter will be the second of the week for Whitehall. The Zephyrs defeated Lehigh on Monday, 25-19, after the game was postponed from last Saturday because of inclement weather. The Mountaineers have a record of one victory and three defeats going into tonight's encounter. The game with Bangor was cancelled for the season when the scheduled game was rained out on two occasions last weekend.

Whitehall is one of the annual football powers in the Lehigh Valley League.

The mothers of Stroudsburg High football players will sit together in one section of the bleachers and will be presented with flowers.

Winter Loops To Protest

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Puerto Rican Baseball League president, Ernesto Juan Font, today called for a special meeting of all Caribbean winter leagues to protest against "dictatorial decisions" imposed on the winter leagues by the office of George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, and also by Commissioner Ford Frick's office.

Order

Font ordered Brooklyn pitcher Ed Roebuck to be returned by Mayaguez to the Havana club of the Cuban League. Roebuck had been given special permission by Brooklyn to play only with Mayaguez. However, he was on Havana's reserve list, since he had played there last season, and the Cuban club claimed its rights had been violated.

Fegley To Attend Affair

POCONO MANOR — Charley James, chairman of the program committee for the Pocono Little League banquet, announced last night that Dr. Winston Fegley, Hazleton, would be one of the guests at the banquet to be held here on Wednesday, November 2. Fegley is commissioner of Little League District Four.

Featured Speaker

Mickey Vernon, first baseman for the Washington Senators, will be the featured speaker. Tickets are still available for the affair. Adults will pay $2.50 per ticket, while students under 16 will be admitted for two dollars.

THE CHERRY VALLEY ROD AND GUN CLUB will hold a SHOOTING MATCH in Charlie Kegan's Field between Sciota & Snyder'sville SUNDAY, OCT. 23 Starting at 1:00 P.M.

Varsity 'S' Association Makes Plans For Grid Booster Night

PLANS FOR A Booster Night to be held at Gordon Giffels Field on Saturday, November 4, when Stroudsburg and Slatonville clash in a Lehigh Valley League football game, were the main topics of Varsity "S" Association meeting held last night at the Municipal Building.

thirty-five members were in attendance.

Bernard "Doc" Helman and Ed Somers were named co-chairmen of the Booster Night committee. The committee will also include Mahlon Seifert, Byron "Chick" Miller, Oliver Weber and Bill Crooks.

The Booster Night plans call for a community-wide participation with Stroudsburg High and all the people in the borough taking part. There will be tags made available bearing an "I Am A Booster" inscription.

Special Drive

A special drive for advance sale of tickets will be held the week before the game.

The Varsity "S" Association postponed its annual show, originally listed for next month, until sometime in the spring. The postponement was made necessary when Tom Waring, show producer, announced that he would be away from the area on the original date.

It was reported that the recent Pop Rally and Parents Night was a huge success. It was also revealed that the Flood Relief Fund, founded by the Varsity "S" Association, has now collected $7,129.08.

The club also decided to take a quarter-page advertisement in the special Thanksgiving Day football program. Coach John Whitehead displayed movies of the Stroudsburg-Pen

Requests for franchises will be mailed to national headquarters in Williamsport immediately.

Hopeful

Reese, president of the organization, announced that the league is hopeful of constructing a second field, complete with watering system, next spring.

Bangor Searches For Second Victory Against Coplay In Night Battle At Memorial Park

BANGOR — Bangor High will step out of the Lehigh-Northampton League in search of its second football victory of the current campaign today when the Slaters battle Coplay here at Memorial Park. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 p. m.

The Slaters at the present time have a record of one victory and three defeats. Last weekend's schedule tussle with Stroudsburg, postponed on two occasions by inclement weather, has been cancelled.

Coach Granville "Granny" Evans announced yesterday that his forward wall will play both ways tonight. The offensive-defensive unit will have Sam Heard and Anthony Ruggerio at the ends; Charley Woolley and Jim Warlick, tackles; Bob Butz and Dick Marinelli, guards, and Don Evans, center.

Jim Freeman will probably get the nod at quarterback, as regular signal caller "Jabby" Williams came up with a charley horse in practice this week. Glen Heard and Bob Finelli will handle the halfbacks and either Jack Stenlake or Dale Miller will be in the fullback slot. Freeman and Miller will back up the line on defense, while Heard handles the safety duties. Jack Stenlake will be one defensive halfback, while Frank Butz takes over the other defensive halfback job if Williams is unable to play.

Bangor opened the season with a win over Palmerton, but since that time has fallen before Catasauqua, East Stroudsburg and Wilson Borough.

The Slaters play host to Nazareth next Friday night.

League Selects Christine As 'Most Deserving Official'

TANNERSVILLE—Elmer D. Christine, District Attorney of Monroe County, last night was named the "most deserving official in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League" during the regular October meeting here at Tannersville Inn.

Tickets Go On Sale For Football Tilt

GENERAL ADMISSION tickets for the East Stroudsburg-Wilson Borough football game tomorrow night may be purchased in advance, it was announced last night by Lewis R. Hastie, faculty manager of athletics at East Stroudsburg High.

Hastie revealed that the tickets will be available at Lloyd's Sporting Goods Store, 123 Crystal St., this morning.

Deadline

Adult tickets may be purchased up until 5 p. m. tomorrow. Purchasing tickets in advance will help to reduce the long line at the admission booth.

The kickoff will take place at 8 p. m. tomorrow at Memorial Stadium.

A's Sign Former Card

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics today signed William Turnbaugh Jr., left-handed pitcher who was released by the St. Louis Cardinals organization last summer after sustaining an arm injury.

Turnbaugh was signed for Lancaster, Pa., of the Class E Piedmont League but ordered to report next spring to Savannah, Ga., of the Sally League because that club begins training earlier than Lancaster.

Christine is legal counsel for the baseball circuit.

The district attorney, who attended last night's meeting, delivered a few remarks of thanks. "Gilbert 'Gib' Bachman, who led Slatersburg to the regular season pennant, was named 'most popular manager'."

Both Bachman and Christine will receive trophies at the annual league banquet to be held at the Lake House, Slatersburg, on Saturday, November 19, at 7 p. m.

Birthday

Bachman, chairman of the banquet committee, was honored as the most popular manager on the eve of his 50th birthday.

The banquet committee will hold a meeting at Bartonville Hotel next Tuesday, at 8 p. m. Banquet plans will be made at that time.

Next month's business session will be postponed because of the banquet, while the December meeting will be held at the Poho-poko Hotel, Effort.

Anatomink, Bushkill, Moorestown and Kunkelstown weren't represented at last night's gathering.

Clinton I. Getz, league president, presided over last night's gathering.

The Penn-Duke battle, originally listed for tomorrow, will be played later in the season by mutual agreement.

Equipment

All players in the circuit are asked to report to the Lloyd Sporting Goods Store, 123 Crystal St., immediately after school today.

The youngsters will pick up their tags and cans for a Tag Day to be held tonight and tomorrow. Paul Lloyd, president of the league, will give the youngsters their instructions at this time.

All proceeds collected during Tag Day will go directly to the league.

East Stroudsburg Junior High To Battle Hackettstown

Cavaliers Hope To Protect Mark

EAST STROUDSBURG Junior High will try to make it two straight football victories today when the youthful Cavaliers tangle with Hackettstown Junior High on the latter's gridiron. The kickoff is on the agenda for 2:30 p. m.

The Cavaliers, under the direction of Coach Doug Schoonover, scored a 19-6 decision over the same Hackettstown crew at Memorial Stadium last Saturday morning.

Schoonover announced yesterday that the only lineup changes for the Cavaliers will be at the end positions. Tom Wagner will start at left end and Jimmy Brooks will handle the opening right end spots. Both were reported to starting positions as a reward for last Saturday's play against Hackettstown.

Starters
Otherwise the Cavaliers will announce the starting whistle exactly the same as they did last weekend. This means that Bob Prescott will be at left tackle; "Pop" Patella, left guard; Dick "Tank" Lee, center; Mahlon Lee, right guard, and Foster Ladlee, right tackle.

Schoonover also reported that Pete Treible, Ed "Dinner" Hillman, Don Cramer, Alex Sydenik, Tom Fuller, Vaughn Howe, Dave Smith, Jim Wagner, Dick Moeller, "Slim" Hawk, Yellman, Roster, Brinker, and Zatezny will also be pressed into service during the afternoon.

The Cavaliers are reportedly in good physical condition and spirit is high.

This is the second of four games on the East Stroudsburg schedule at the present time.

Karas Keeps All Happy

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20 (P)—Mike Karas Jr., 20, Geneva College's standout quarterback and the state's current top scorer, decided two years ago that love and football away from home didn't jell.

So Mike packed his bags, quit West Virginia University and decided to come home. But he again got the football bug after a year out of school so he entered Geneva.

Now Karas is happy. Geneva Coach Cliff Aultman's happy and so is Miss Helen Vidovich, Mike's girlfriend.

Aultman, who calls Karas "a fierce competitor," is especially elated over the industry native who has been a key factor in Geneva's three victories to date.

Top Scorer
Karas, who can pass and run well, the left-handed is the No. 1 scorer among Pennsylvania college football players. He's scored six touchdowns and made two conversions for 38 points in five games.

The 175-pound former Lincoln High School star, who had 15 college offers, also leads Geneva in total offense, punting and passing (he's completed 36 out of 59 attempts) and is second on the squad in rushing.

Karas hopes to earn a bachelor of science degree with a major in business administration. So far his grades have been slightly above average.

Associated Press Scribe, Still Not Recovered From Last Week, Picks Irish To Rebound

By Will Grimsley
NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—If the scores appear high and a little on the dizzy side this week, they match the picker. Pardon the aspirin hangover from the rockiest football season of the season.

Our score was 27-15, a little better than Notre-Dame's, but it reduced the season's mark to 162-54 for 750.

Back on the beam:
Michigan 33, Minnesota 12: The unbeaten Wolverines have Rose Bowl fever, Minnesota, with three defeats, lacks speed of last year.

Notre Dame 28, Purdue 14: It's hard to raise a team after a setback such as the Irish took last week but Notre Dame doesn't lose two in a row.

Princeton 21, Cornell 20: The Tigers have lost their ace, Royce Flippin, and the Big Red is without Billy DeGraff. Princeton by an extra point.

Texas A&M 28, Baylor 20: Bear Bryant has his Aggies fit and tightly. This is a tough conference to fathom but the Aggies should win at home.

UCLA 26, Iowa 6: Despite loss to Maryland, the Uclans still have one of the country's best teams.

Duke 21, Pittsburgh 7: Pitt has size and depth but Duke has speed and imagination, should win its fifth straight.

Navy 27, Penn 7: It's a 14th straight defeat for Penn, which hasn't won a game since it upset the Midshipmen 9-6 in 1933.

Army 28, Columbia 6: After two straight setbacks, Army gets a chance to collect itself. Columbia has only a passer, Claude Benham.

Maryland 23, Syracuse 12: On a dry field, Syracuse will find Maryland a different team than Army last week.

Oklahoma 21, Colorado 0: A battle of unbeaten teams, but the Sooners simply don't lose in their league.

The others:
Tomorrow: Miami 28, TCU 21; Denver 21, Brigham Young 0;

Oklahoma A&M 14, Detroit 7.

Saturday: Harvard 7, Dartmouth 0; Boston College 24, Marquette 7; Holy Cross 21, Boston U. 6; Rutgers 20, Lehigh 6;

Ring Managers Testify, But Suspensions Remain Intact

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—Three managers, who had been suspended indefinitely for refusing to talk about the Boxing Guild of New York, today testified before the state Athletic Commission, but their bans were not lifted.

Jumpers Take Over At Belmont Park

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—The jumpers take over the spotlight tomorrow at Belmont Park with 11 horses entered in the $50,000-added most ambitious steeplechase in U. S. racing annals.

Two 5-year-old chestnut geldings, Neji and Shipboard, figure to battle it out for the top prize in what should be a spectacular 2½ mile duel over 16 stiff fences.

Still, with the richest purse ever offered anywhere in this division of racing, plus the hazards of falls or other mishaps, these two are no cinch to grab the honors.

Top Weight
Neji, owned by Mrs. Ogden Phipps, carries highweight of 167 pounds, while Mrs. Marion du Pont Scott's Shipboard has 166.

The difference in weight alone could tip the scales for one of the lesser entries.

There are three sets of betting entries—Mrs. Michael G. Walsh's Rhythminim, 119, and Templar, 120; the Brookmeade Stable's His Boots, 127, and Bavaria, 130; while Neji is coupled with Ilyana, 128, owned by Mrs. George H. Bodewick.

Others entered are John M. Schiff's Carafar, 132; Morris Dixon Sr.'s Palaja, 130; the Llangollen Farm's The Profit, 141; and Sidney Watters Jr.'s Carthage, 134.

Mack Recovering From Hip Injury

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20 (P)—Connie Mack, 82, who is recovering satisfactorily from a broken right hip, was pushed around Presbyterian Hospital corridors today in a wheelchair.

It was the first time he was out of his room since undergoing an operation to speed recovery of the hip injury October 1. A hospital spokesman said Mack would be released Saturday.

Collins Severs Connections With Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20 (P)—Eddie Collins Jr., son of one of baseball's all-time greats, today resigned his post as assistant general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies because he said he was placed in the position of endorsing policies he personally disapproved.

Collins, 38, joined the Phillies as assistant farm director in 1947, after several unsuccessful tryouts as an outfielder with the Philadelphia Athletics, and two seasons in the International League. He was named assistant general manager Dec. 19, 1954.

Policy Conflict
Actually, Collins' resignation was the result of a policy conflict with General Manager Roy Hamer.

Collins, whose dad, Edward Trobridge Collins Sr., is in the Hall of Fame, said his decision to quit was not sudden. He said it had been building up over the course of last summer.

"It was just a case of two baseball men with irreconcilable ideas. They don't belong on the same club," Collins said.

Hamer, who as general manager has taken a very active part in minor league organization, may incorporate Collins' duties in his own job.

Marciano Wins Award

Hamline Trio Setting Hot Passing Pace

By The Associated Press

IF HAMLINE University could field a defensive platoon to match Jerry Foley, Dick Donlin and Dick Dahl, it might have one of the finest records in small college football. Instead it just has the most surprising.

Foley, a stringy, 165-pound freshman from St. Paul, stands far out as the best small college passer and his favorite targets, the 6-foot-5 Donlin and 6-foot Dahl, are one-two among the receivers. Foley is the first college player to show 1,000 yards in gains this season and his efforts have made Hamline easily the No. 1 passing team in the nation.

But look what happens. Foley fired 56 passes at the University of Minnesota's Duluth Branch last week. He hit 28 for 313 yards and three touchdowns. The distance total is the year's collegiate high for one game. But, after leading 21-0, the Pipers managed to lose their fifth straight game 30-27.

Two Games
In the last two games, Foley has passed 118 times and run three times. That has given him a five-game record of 177 plays that have netted just 1,099 yards. It also has given him the total offense lead for the second week in NCAA Service Bureau small college statistics.

Donlin has caught 29 passes for 308 yards and Dahl has hauled down 20 for 257 yards. Hamline's team record shows 146 attempts and 92 completions for 1,118 yards, an average of 213.6 yards per game.

The also-rans include Mike Karas of Geneva with 57 of 60 completed passes and Roy Dragon of Albright with 22 of 61. It's Davidson (N. C.) in team passing with 48 of 78 for a game average of 186 yards. Nearest pass receivers to the Hamline pair are Bob Bradner of Whitworth and Bob Price of Geneva with 17 catches each.

On the other side, Marv Raab of Alma (Mich.) juggled the ball 213 yards in his last two games to oust Evansville's Ken Lutterbach from the rushing lead for the first time this season. Raab has rushed an even 500 yards.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—Gangling Wes Santee got the indoor track season off to a rushing start tonight by whipping to a 4:05.2 mile victory in a mammoth Olympic Carnival in Madison Square Garden.

Lightweight Champ Struck Financial Blow

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20 (P)—The financial troubles which often plague a boxing champion moved in on lightweight title holder Bud Smith today.

He appeared before the Cincinnati Boxing Commission to collect a check for $9,000 this afternoon with a big smile on his face. He was happy because he had squeaked out a victory over challenger Jimmy Carter last night in 15 bruising rounds.

The attachment followed a suit however, when sheriff's deputies delivered a court order attaching $6,000 of the Cincinnati's guarantee from promoter Sam Becker. The attachment followed a suit filed earlier in the day in Common Pleas Court by John Joiner, Cincinnati, who claims he is Smith's manager.

Uncertain
Smith said before the fight that he did not now just who were his managers. That statement was made to the commission when he was asked the status of Carmine Graziano and Tony Ferrente, who had been acting as his co-managers.

Ferrente and Graziano are under investigation by the Athletic Commission in Pennsylvania because of alleged associations with undesirable characters.

It then was decided to make out the check for the Carter fight to Smith.

Joiner claimed Smith signed a five-year contract with him in 1950. Graziano was in Smith's corner last night.

Carter went to a doctor today to have his battered right eye treated. It was closed after the eighth round.

The mixup in announcing Smith as the winner over Carter last night by a split decision, then reversing it and making it unanimously after a recheck of the judges' cards still had the fans woozy today.

Chip Cain, Boxing Commission chairman, said the official decision would stand as being unanimously in favor of Smith, despite Judge Joe Blink's assertions that he meant to score Carter as the winner. A recheck of Blink's card showed Smith credited with 143 points and Carter 129.

Blink's card had been announced from the ring as giving both Carter and Smith 140 points. The elderly judge, however, insisted he meant the count to be 144 to 140 for Carter.

Walker Reportedly In Line For Pittsburgh Pilot Post

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates will hold their annual board of directors meeting early next month at which time it is expected that Joe L. Brown, son of the famed comedian, will succeed Branch Rickey as general manager and one of three leading candidates—Fred (Dixie) Walker, Bobby Bragan or Andy Cohen—will be named field manager.

Fred "Dixie" Walker

Walker, the former "people's choice" in Brooklyn a decade ago, currently is in the lead to succeed Fred Haney. The latter was released a day before the end of last season.

Dixie, adjudged as a good baseball man with a penchant for handling youngsters, has a fine minor league record to recommend him. After finishing his active big league career with the Pirates in 1949, he began a six-year managerial tenure in the minors, serving three years with Atlanta, two with Houston and one with Rochester. He also served under Eddie Stanky as coach of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Championship

Walker, older brother of Harry Walker, who was deposed as manager of the Cardinals earlier this month, led his Rochester club to a championship in the International League playoffs last season but lost to the Minneapolis Millers in a seven-game Little World Series. In 1954, his Houston club won the Texas League playoffs but lost to Atlanta in the Dixie Series.

According to a Pittsburgh official, Walker is "very close to getting the job."

Bragan, a teammate of Walker's at Brooklyn, was the original choice to succeed Haney. The former infielder and catcher managed Hollywood, a Pittsburgh farm club in the Pacific Coast League last season. Cohen, also well regarded, once starred as a second baseman with the New York Giants. He did an excellent managing job at New Orleans in the Southern Assn. last season. The Pelicans also are a farm club of the Pirates.

Brown, a protégé of Rickey, came to Pittsburgh last year after having served as general manager of the New Orleans club. He appears to have the inside track over Branch Rickey Jr., son of the 74-year-old baseball wizard. Branch Jr., currently heads the Pirates' farm system.

It had been assumed that Junior would replace his father when the latter officially announced his retirement.

"No, I don't think so," said Rickey Sr. "Branch is doing a fine job running the farm system. It's the job he knows best and I want him to stay right there."

Turner To Face Logart In Garden

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Gil Turner, 25, of Philadelphia, one down to the "old" Kid Gavilan, hopes to even the score by beating the "new" Kid Gavilan—Isaac Logart, 22, of Cuba — in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The Latin-American rooters hereabouts are calling Logart the "New Gavilan" and that's a tough handle in common — each comes from Camaguey, Cuba, and each wears high, white ring shoes.

This has failed to impress the hardened bookmakers who have installed the more experienced Turner the 9-5 betting choice.

Ranking

Right now Turner is ranked 10th among the middleweights while Logart is the ninth ranking welterweight. Turner, however, says he is aiming once more at the welterweight title. The windmill puncher scaled 151 pounds in losing a non-title scrap to welterweight king Carmen Basilio in Syracuse Sept. 7 and says he can make the 147-pound welter limit.

Before the Basilio fight, Turner was outpointed by middleweight contender Gene Fullmer. He had whipped Fullmer in a previous fight. Turner's record is 48-9-1 with 33 knockouts.

Logart has won four of his last five starts. His record is 38-5-4 with 18 kayos.

Clemson Tops South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 20 (AP)—Quarterback Charlie Bussey steered Clemson to two quick first period touchdowns, enough to give the Tigers a 28-14 victory over South Carolina in the teams' 53rd State Fair football game before an overflow crowd of 35,000 today.

The team matched third and fourth period touchdowns after Clemson at one point had a 21-0 lead.

Long Drives

South Carolina drove 86 yards to the Clemson 5 and 50 yards to the Clemson 16 before losing the ball on downs in the second period, the only period the Gamecocks dominated.

Three Matches Slated

THREE MATCHES are on the agenda of the Commercial "C" League today at Harmon's Recreation, at 9:15 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two—Kremer Ice Cream vs Regina Hotel.

Price Paid For Red War Entry Mystery

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

The Pentagon report and General MacArthur's reply leave us just where we were with regard to Russian participation in the Japanese war and the price paid for it by the Allies.

The fact is that Roosevelt and Churchill acted on military advice in trying to get Russia into the war. The price they paid, in territory that wasn't their's and concessions of Chinese rights without consulting China, can be argued about all night. The military reports and MacArthur's statements do indicate that many believed Russia would enter and take what she wanted regardless of the concessions, and that if the Allied leaders were giving away something they didn't own, they also were merely giving away something Russia was going to have anyway.

Russia's Delay

The implication, by omission of some of the facts, that Russia entered only at the last moment to seize unearned benefits, after failing to relay Japan's surrender feelers to the Allies, is a distortion. Russia, for her own reasons, didn't relay news of the Japanese feelers, and it is quite possible she didn't want peace before she could get to the front. But she did enter the Far Eastern war three months after the German surrender, as she had agreed.

The main failure of the Allied leaders was in ignoring the fact that the things for which Russia asked their approval were part of a formula, made blatantly public over a long period of years, for Communist conquest of all Asia.

As for the political gambits of the MacArthur-Democratic dispute over pre-Yalta and post-Yalta details, neither side seems to have made much hay. MacArthur still says he favored Russian participation immediately after Pearl Harbor, cooled off on it by 1944 when things were going to suit him in his own war, and was merely pursuing the Yalta verdict in his references to Russian entry thereafter.

Did Not Want Reds

The Pentagon report doesn't show that he was asked or gave his advice directly in connection with Yalta, as the Democrats implied, and he says he wasn't and didn't. As for what he might have said had he been asked, we have his word that he didn't want Russia then, and you can't go behind that. The record shows other military leaders were warming up and then cooling off about Russian participation from time to time, too.

Hindsight frequently interferes with what historians select as the most pertinent part of a given record, as well as with personal recollections of attitudes at given times. That makes humans, but not liars, out of those involved.

All we can be sure of is that if Russia had done what she was going to do anyway, without Allied approval if necessary, the world would have had notice, a year or so before it did, of what it should have known all the time about her postwar intentions.

Hotelkeeper Has Top Life Says Lady 77

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—To Mary Catherine Lewis, a gay and gracious lady of 77, there's only one way to lead the full life: be a hotelkeeper.

"It has glamor, it has excitement, and it's wonderful if you love people," she said today. "I always say, 'If you're not friendly, get out of the hotel business.'"

Mrs. Lewis realizes, a little sadly, that most of us are, at best, neutral on innkeeping. But her affection for the business is understandable.

Her father was a hotelman who once served as White House steward under Lincoln, and she literally was born into the business, in the Grand Hotel in Cincinnati.

Her marriage to Clifford Lewis strengthened the hotel ties. Lewis' father and grandfather were hotelmen, and he, too, was born in a hotel, the National in Cobleskill, N. Y.

Naturally the young couple not only went into the hotel business, but also went on to set up the Lewis Hotel Training School to teach all phases of innkeeping, from how long it should take to clean a bathtub to how to fry a steak.

Even Lewis' death — he had a heart attack and died on hearing the radio announcement that the Japanese had attacked Pearl Harbor — didn't stop her. Now she is rounding out 40 years of trying to teach others, in person and by correspondence, the tricks of running a hotel.

Mrs. Lewis has seven rules for good hotelkeeping.

"They are service, cleanliness, efficiency, economy, courtesy, hospitality and honesty. You'll note I put service first, even ahead of cleanliness, because without service the rest becomes meaningless."

Fifth Straight Advance Sends Market Recovery Well Above Low Reaction

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—The stock market in its fifth straight advance today showed its current recovery movement well above the lows of the reaction that came with the Eisenhower illness.

The market has been gathering strength as it goes, and today it made its biggest and strongest advance in more than a week.

Brokers pointed out that the original decline and the current recovery are well within normal limits of market movement. The present level of the market is considered to be a critical one inasmuch as progress from now on will depend on whether buying power expands with enough force to put the recovery on a firm basis. Failure to do so, brokers said, could bring a quick testing of the previous lows.

Volume High

Volume amounted to 2,160,000 shares, best in a week. That compares with 1,760,000 shares traded yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks in gaining $1.30 at $169.60 was boosted along by advances in all three components—industrials up $1.20, rails up 90 cents, and utilities up 20 cents.

There were 1,132 individual issues traded of which 660 advanced and 244 declined with 9 new highs and 18 new lows for the year registered.

U. S. Steel was the day's most active issue up 3/4 at 55 1/2 on 31,000 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 770,000 as against 710,000 yesterday. The corporate bond market was higher. U. S. government issues over the counter were mixed.

Allegheny Shows Jump In Air Miles

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (P)—Allegheny Airlines flew 3,449,000 passenger miles in September for a 41 per cent increase over the same month last year marking the ninth consecutive month in which new, all time monthly traffic records were established on Allegheny Airlines' system in the Middle Atlantic area. During the first 9 months of the current year, Allegheny flew over 42,218,000 passenger miles for an average increase over last year of 33 per cent.

South Seeks Industry From A-Power

POINT CLEAR, Ala., Oct. 20 (P)

—Southern governors agreed today on uniting to promote a bold new industrial program with emphasis on use of atomic energy.

At the suggestion of Florida's Gov. Leroy Collins, the Southern Governors Conference approved the first step toward a cooperative new effort with each state joining to help build this part of the country into a vast new manufacturing area.

16 Governors

The action came at the closing session of the annual three-day conference which brought governors of 16 states to this swank resort playground overlooking Mobile Bay.

As the initial venture, the governors authorized their subsidiary Southern Regional Education Board to call a Southwide conference soon to fill in the details on an expansion program that could mean at least 10,000 new manufacturing plants in the next decade.

But they disclaimed any desire to "pirate" industries from any part of the nation. Said Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee: "We don't think it's good to try to get any industry that can't get along where it is."

Yankee Money

Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama observed, however, that "What we want is that Yankee money." He said his administration is seeking new outlets for Alabama industry in other states as well as "trying to bring new business to Alabama."

Leader Names Freeland To Direct Veterans Day Plans

GOV. GEORGE M. LEADER today announced the appointment of Lt. Col. William B. Freeland as State-Wide Chairman of Veterans Day activities. Col. Freeland is Deputy Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and one of the State's foremost exponents of veterans' rights and benefits.

Past president of the Reserve Officers' Association, Department of Pennsylvania, Col. Freeland has been affiliated with the Army and Air Force in a Reserve and Active Duty capacity since 1933.

It is a coincidence that Col. Freeland was separated from his last active duty with the Air Force on Armistice Day (Veterans Day), 1945.

Col. Freeland has appointed his staff from among the state Commanders of the various veteran organizations.

Plans are being formulated on a community basis to properly dedicate the memory of Pennsylvania's thousands of veterans from all wars, many of whom have made the supreme sacrifice.

Tannersville Reformed Social Plan

THE THIRD annual "Get-together" social of the Tannersville Charge, Evangelical and Reformed Church, will be held Friday evening, October 21, in the Tannersville Firehall.

Rev. William E. Foote, pastor of the charge, announces that the social will begin with a covered dish supper at 6:30. Members of the four congregations are asked to bring their own table service in addition to the "covered" dish.

A song service will follow the supper, after which the members of the Tannersville and Swiftwater congregations will entertain the group with several skits and acts, including a panel-type quiz show entitled "What's my secret?"

Special music will also be provided. A short period of devotions will conclude the program.

Whosoever Club Will Be Resumed

THE "Whosoever Club" will hold its initial opening service of the season tonight at 7:30. This is a Bible Club for all children four to twelve years of age and is based on the Bible verse "For God so loved the world that WHOSOEVER believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life". John 3:16.

The club will meet at the same place as last year, the Berean M.E.C. Church, 23 So. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, and will be divided into three departments: beginner, in charge of Miss Mildred Deacon; primary, in charge of Mrs. Josephine Alley; and junior, in charge of Mrs. E. Ruth Schaeffer.

The courses are designed to teach the Bible in a way that it will show its principles in the lives of the teachers and students as well. Flannel graph lessons, flash card stories, object lessons, missionary stories, Scripture memorization, the learning of hymns, and hand work will all have their part in the program.

The club meets at 7:30-9:00 every Friday.

French Assembly Hears Talk Of Early Elections

PARIS, Oct. 20 (AP). — Talk of early elections buzzed about the corridors of the French National Assembly today, but many veteran observers doubted there would be progress beyond the talk stage.

It was not certain who was taking the initiative in the effort, but party leaders were talking among themselves about the problem.

The next election of deputies is scheduled for June 1956. The proposals now being made would advance the date to the end of November 1955.

The only apparent reason for the suggestions seemed to be that the party chiefs realize Premier Edgar Faure could easily have been overthrown yesterday in a confidence vote. With elections in the offing it would be extremely difficult to form a new Cabinet. Hastening the elections would partially eliminate the danger of a long and bitter crisis.

Amate Kills Stumps; Preserve Flower Color By Dusting With Flour

KILLING STUMPS: How can you keep a stump from sprouting up? Before we had weed and brush killers this was quite a job, but now it's a simple matter. If woody plants are removed by cutting, weedkillers such as 2, 4-D, 2, 4, 5-T or Amate, applied to the freshly cut stump will keep most species from sprouting. The preferred treatment is 1/2 pound of 2, 4-D or 2, 4, 5-T acid in 3 gallons of oil such as kerosene, or fuel oil, or even old motor oil.

Circle the stump with the material and apply until there is a runoff. A mixture of 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T can also be used, but at a heavier concentration. Stump treatments can be made at any time of the year. Some shrubs and trees that tolerate foliage sprays can be killed by this simple method.

Use Amate

Amate applied as a dry salt (1 tablespoon per 2 inches of diameter) or a concentrated water solution (5 lbs. to a gallon of water) will prevent sprouting of most species of woody plants. Free: Want to know more about killing trees and checking stumps? Then send The Green Thumb, Naples, N. Y., a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a free copy of our bulletin, "How to Control Stumps."

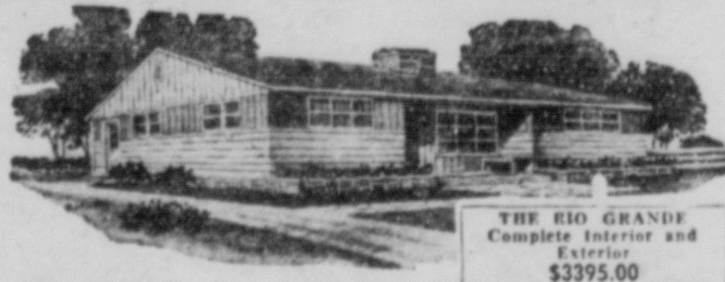

Green Thumb Note: Friends, If you've written to The Green Thumb for help and haven't heard from us within a reasonable length of time, the trouble may be due to lack of postage, lack of self-addressed, stamped envelope, or improper self-addressed envelope. Always send The Green Thumb, Naples, N. Y., a self-addressed, stamped envelope when writing. We are happy to give you free bulletins, free information, but we cannot pay postage. Always send in a self-addressed stamped envelope

Preserve Colors

Flour for flowers: Did you know you can preserve the colors of your favorite flowers by treating them with ordinary all purpose cooking flour? A reader of this department tells us she preserves gladioli, dahlias, callas, roses, by covering the blooms with the flour, for 2 to 4 weeks, depending on the size of the blossoms. After that period the flour is dusted off, leaving the original colors perfect. We have used borax for preserving blossoms, and plan to use flour right after we finish writing this. Try flour and tell us how you like it!

NOT FOR WEAK NERVES—A visitor with more than his share of curiosity looks at the bone house in Oppenheim, Germany, where bones of 15,000 residents and soldiers are kept. The house was built around 1450. It also contains bones of Swedish soldiers.

WOODEN NIGHTINGALE—"Hopi Sam" Pemahinye inspects a statue of Jenny Lind in the lobby of Bright Angel lodge at Grand Canyon, Ariz. The statue of the "Swedish Nightingale," patterned after a cigar store Indian, was a gift.

WATCH OUT, MEN!—Old-time movie star Nita Naldi (right) teaches the art of vamping to modern-day star Carol Channing for her leading role in an upcoming musical. The play, heading for Broadway, is a satirical joshing of the early flickers.

GERMANY'S DAY—These are the types of West Berlin residents who recently celebrated the "Day of Germans," which commemorated expulsion of millions of Germans from former German territory ten years ago. At the top are boy and girl members of a German youth movement while on the bottom is a woman from what was once Sudetenland area and next to her is an old man wearing native garb of Palatine.

GET THE GO SIGN—Gisela Maletski balances happily atop an old signal light box while her cat, Peter, keeps her company. Scene is an abandoned railroad station in West Berlin, Germany. Gisela's family live in the station, but city has condemned quarters and they'll be forced to move.

PRIZE-WINNING CALVES—Lovely Sandy Sands, who could have won a prize herself, shows off her calves at New Jersey State fair in Trenton. They'll try for blue ribbon.

AN AGE-OLD PROBLEM

DARIA MASSEY is a potential star in TV, movies and modeling, but, busy as she is, she has a problem. She doesn't look old enough for better roles. All this Hollywood lass gets are juvenile parts. Once she even bought a tough-looking blond wig, but producers saw through the ruse. Daria, adopted by her foster parents when she was only three months old, may not have a real past, but she has a bright future if she ages.

Daria registers as ingenue.

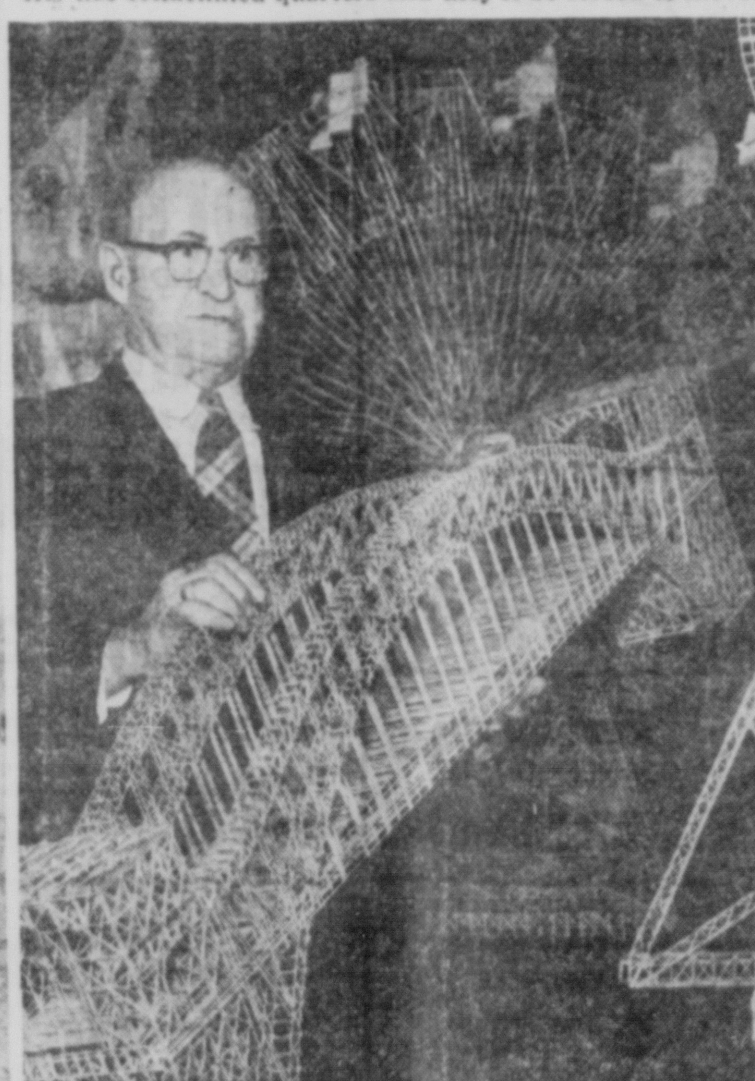

She can be glamorous, also.

Could this be symbolic of her hitch-hiking to stardom?

NOT SO BITTER RICE—Italian movie "Bitter Rice" focused attention on one of that country's most successful agriculture products, but girl workers in another movie in same area don't seem to be bitter about anything. Film was made in Po valley region.

TOOTHPICK TITLIST—Phil Harris, a cabinet-maker from Fullerton, Calif., holds up a bridge made of toothpicks, one of the prize entries in his collection of model structures. He has won eight cups, numerous ribbons in hobby shows.

Church of England Again Stirred By Divorce Issue

By George W. Cornell
NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The relationship of a man and a woman is again today stirring the atmosphere of the Church of England. It's an ageless story, and even though unique in details, pulsing with the counterpoint of history. There could be a chance for Princess Margaret to marry a divorced man, Peter Townsend, with church approval, if it weren't for certain technical circumstances. But the "ifs" make all the difference.

Rigid Rule

Perhaps no other church is so rigid in its rule against remarriage of divorced persons while their former mates are still living. No exception is officially authorized even though grounds existed—but weren't used at the time—to get the past match nullified by the church itself.

"The ban is total and unambiguous," said the Rev. Dr. J. V. Langmead, Casserley, a British authority on church canon law and traditions now in New York.

"It is probably true that the Church of England is more strict on this point than any other part of Christendom."

Under the spiritual headship of the present Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, it has held even more firmly to the principle.

"More so than any recent archbishop, he has been particularly insistent on a rigorous rule in regard to marriages," Dr. Casserley said.

"He would be the last man to make any exception. He would have to eat his own words to do it."

Princess Margaret is devout in her religious practices, and a good friend of the archbishop's.

The prohibition doesn't mean that a divorced person can't stay in good graces of the church. The church simply considers him living apart from his spouse. He can't remain in the church.

George IV

In fact, one British sovereign, King George IV, in the early 1800s, did divorce his wife, and as king served as temporal head of the church.

Even at his coronation, his discarded wife made a big fuss trying to force her way past the guards and demanding that she be crowded queen. She wasn't.

"It was an awfully unseemly fracas at the door," said Dr. Casserley, who at present is serving as a professor of dogmatic theology at the Episcopal General Theological Seminary here.

The royal problem most closely corresponding to that of Princess Margaret, 25, and Royal Air Force Group Capt. Townsend, 40, was the one faced by King Edward VIII.

Roving Duke

He gave up the throne in 1936 and became the roving Duke of Windsor in order to marry an American divorcee, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

For Princess Margaret, however, the demands of duty aren't so great, even though her marriage outside the church would, in effect, deprive her of rights of succession to the throne.

The reason for this is that the sovereign is nominal head of the church, with the title of "Defender of the Faith."

"Princess Margaret couldn't formally consent to a marriage that is contrary to the laws of the church which she would have to swear in her oath of office to defend," Dr. Casserley said.

As a result, he said, if she did marry Townsend, Parliament would be almost certain to pass an act debarring her from succession. But in concrete terms, this wouldn't mean much.

Margaret probably never would become queen, no matter what she does about Townsend. She stands third in line to the throne behind the two children of her sister Queen Elizabeth.

Water Samples Taken Here Tested In Week

THE RECORD for Tuesday, October 18 carried a statement that Peter B. Gearhart, Junior Sanitarian, State Department of Health, was now prepared to examine private water supplies.

The State Department of Health is primarily concerned with supervision and testing of waters served to the public.

When requested to do so, sanitarians are empowered to take samples from private supplies. Since the Health Department does not maintain a local laboratory, such samples must be mailed either to Wilkes-Barre or Philadelphia, where they are examined in rotation as received.

Allowing for time in transit and the two to four days required for completion of the test, the property owner should understand that probably at least a week will elapse before a report from the department reaches him.

No Progress Indicated In Westinghouse Strike Study

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20 (AP)—Negotiators plied along today without their leaders, trying to end a four-day strike at 30 Westinghouse Electric Corp. plants but showed no apparent signs of making any progress.

Representatives for the company and the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers met for nearly five hours. Both sides said there were no new developments to report.

Union President James B. Carey missed the negotiations while he traveled to Washington to report on the situation to the union's general executive board. Little was expected to develop there.

Robert D. Blasier, vice president in charge of industrial relations for Westinghouse, has not attended a session since the 44,000 union members walked off the job at midnight Sunday.

Another 10,000 have been idled by picket lines.

The workers struck to back up demands for a 15-cent hourly wage increase. Under the present wage

Beacon Loan Opens Office In Stroudsburg; Miller's Pen-Stroud Paint Operate

BEACON LOAN COMPANY, a small loan agency operating under Pennsylvania Department of Banking license, has established an office on the second floor of 615 Main St., Stroudsburg.

The firm has been operating in Pennsylvania since 1947. The local office is the tenth to be established. Others are located at Pittston, the main office, Berwick, Sunbury, Lewistown, Lock Haven, Towanda, Montrose, Chambersburg and Wilkes-Barre.

Dayton B. Spackman has been assigned here as manager of the office which specializes in loans from $20 to $600.

Mr. Spackman has been with Beacon Loan for six years. He came here from the firm's Binghamton, N. Y. operation.

Miller Furniture

Frank Miller, owner-operator of A. C. Miller Furniture Store at 350 Main St., Stroudsburg opened that business yesterday after a complete cleanup from the Aug. 18-19 flood.

The Miller furniture store was one of the hardest hit business operations in the flood region of Stroudsburg.

The entire basement and main floor display room of the big merchandising center was flooded.

Cleanup operations have been pressed steadily since the flood. The building is now entirely cleaned, decorated and ready for business. Much of the stock hit by the flood has been moved and destroyed.

Other stock which could be saved has been cleaned thoroughly and restored.

To this merchandise, Mr. Miller has added a great deal of new stock.

Mr. Miller said yesterday he plans an extensive buying operation in the furniture market buying period in January. He indicated the big store will be fully stocked in time for the Spring season.

Pen-Stroud Paint

Pen-Stroud Paint, operated by George Miller at 300 Main St., Stroudsburg, is another flood-hit business which has come back promptly to serve its clientele in this region.

Prompt disposal of flood-damaged stock was followed by a thorough cleanup campaign.

A complete line of stock has been placed on the shelves.

One of the interesting features of the restoration is the flood mark placed on the big Pen-Stroud Paint store sign at the front of the building to permanently mark the unusual height of the flood waters in that area.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, OCT. 21

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Curtain down, world, action time is upon you. In this fast-moving period, you are clever, have a fine mind which, used properly can overcome many obstacles and produce fine gains.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Cooperate with others generally, but not at the expense of principles or good habits. Know when to say, "no," and don't worry about it. Indulge things you like within reason.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Do not make hasty decisions, not without thought. It takes time to do a good job. Don't dilly-dally, sidestep issues or waste time on non-essentials, however.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—Though you may not be able to achieve as much as you wish now, you can do much to cement good relations and promote accomplishment in the future. Manner, attitude important.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—Some days require more pep and incentive, more will to proceed against odds than others. But, generally, obstacles are made worse by undue fear. Give Leo's ability a chance.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Don't expect others to do things just as you do, or at the same time. Let all have a glimpse of your truly well-balanced mind at work, backed by your innate good humor and charm.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Try to be hard, or for too long a period at one time, you will feel more. Review to see wherein you can improve methods. Getting along suitably while being true to principles is stressed.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)—Don't put off personal matters that should have your attention now in order to achieve something that will please others; this doesn't make sense in the long run. Best when you should be eager for progress, too.

November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius)—Deal directly where you can, but do not be upset if in some cases you must bend those in authority. Temperament and manner very important now. Show your best.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Though things may not be what you expected, they can be bettered by effort and a keen conception of what is appropriate. Be receptive to friendly suggestions, constructive criticism.

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Don't be coaxed into anything against your better judgment. This day is especially propitious for improving business relations, aiding community affairs.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Adopt new methods if they are shown to be better than those you have known; don't hesitate about unusual assignments, but steer clear of impulsive decisions, questionable deals.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—You'll have tremendous energy, self-control and determination that can conquer against seemingly impossible odds. Though sometimes arrogant, you rarely do things for other than the desire to achieve true progress. Pretenses is absent from your nature. You can lose opportunities through procrastination and heedlessness. You have pride, control it since it is fine if rightly used. Place no value on flattery. You can accomplish much; never waste time, but do take needed rest and relaxation. Birthdate: Samuel T. Coleridge, famed Eng. poet, Allied Nobel, chemist-engineer, founder of Nobel Prize.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to assist you in your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
